WEATHER

Today's forecast indicates cloudy skies, snow flurries and not such cold temperatures can be expected. Today's high temperature reading should be in the upper 20's with night time low near 15. The outlook for tomorrow suggests little change in temperature, with snow flurries expected later in the day. Winds today will be from the north north east 10 to 18 mph. The extended forecast for Thursday through Monday indicates temperatures will moderate during the early part of the period, but turn colder over the weekend. Daily high temperature readings will be in the upper 20's while overnight low temperature readings will remain in the middle or lower teens. Yesterday's 7 a.m. report: high 18; low minus 1; there was just a trace of precipitation recorded. The river level was 6.3 feet and falling.

Kinzua Dam Report

Pool level 1303.50 feet. Upstream is frozen over. Downstream temperature 35 degrees. Reading at the Warren gauge 6.26 feet and falling.

WARREN COUNTY

Warren County Planning Commission members have been reviewing plans for a Holiday Inn, in the Warren area. According to County Planner, Robert Peterson, whether or not the $1 million facility will locate here depends on several things. A major problem is the proposed sign.

Warren Borough Council, meeting in special session to expedite action on the proposed swimming pool complex at the foot of Oak st., agreed to enter into contract with Campbell-Ellsworth Co.

Federal Budget for Next Year Could Total $190 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Increased domestic spending already written into law, and higher military costs, reportedly will boost total federal outlays in the next fiscal year to $190 billion or beyond.

An informed source reporting this Tuesday noted that the figure isn't exactly comparable with past budgets since the administration will use this year for the first time a unified budget format which lumps all spending together, including that of the huge government operated trust funds such as Social Security.

But one official said spending in the administrative budget—if that were still in use—would range between $145 billion and $150 billion in the estimates now scheduled to be sent to Congress Jan. 29.

This is substantially above the $136 billion to $137 billion in administrative budget spending expected in the current fiscal year ending June 30 but one source said the increase stems from higher defense costs and the increased cost of existing federal programs such as welfare, Medicaid and pay raises for government workers.

Exact budget figures have not yet been revealed but administration officials now know into what range they will fall, although some decisions must still be made by President Johnson.

While spending in the new budget will be higher than in the current year, the source said it will definitely remain below $200 billion under the new unified budget format.

If the budget for the current fiscal year had been presented to Congress last January under the new system it would have called for spending $175.5 billion.

But even this figure is not quite comparable with the $190 billion range now mentioned since it would include increased Social Security benefits as of last July 1.

NEW YORK (AP) — The world's fifth human heart transplant was completed Tuesday night on Louis Block, 57, and he was reported in "reasonably . . . satisfactory" condition after a marathon nine-hour operation.

It was the fifth such transplant in 37 days, with three of the human heart recipients still alive.

But the woman's heart given to Block was "rather small," said Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz, the chief surgeon. This, he said, caused some problems.

Kantrowitz had tried to transplant the heart of a brain-damaged 2-day-old child into a 2½-week-old boy on Dec. 6, but the boy died after 6½ hours.

Kantrowitz said the operation lasted into its ninth hour because of the difficulties presented by the small heart of the donor. At present, Block, a retired fireman, was being aided by a helper heart, a mechanical device, inserted into the new heart's pressure system.

The new heart, reportedly from Helen Krouch, 29, of Paterson, N.J., "just isn't large enough to maintain the circulation and therefore has to be assisted by the balloon pump," Kantrowitz said.

The fact of the small heart apparently caused a problem for the surgeons, but they decided to go ahead because the blood types of the two individuals matched "so perfectly" that the chances of natural rejection was less.

The body tends to reject foreign tissue and infections, a condition which has posed a problem for surgeons in previous heart transplant operations.

Both donor and recipient had A-B-positive blood types, Kantrowitz said, calling it a "rare occurrence," a blood class in only 4 per cent of the population.

Kantrowitz said the woman donor had been suffering from a

Fifth Heart Transplant Completed; Patient 'Reasonably Satisfactory'

NEW YORK (AP) — The world's fifth human heart transplant was completed Tuesday night on Louis Block, 57, and he was reported in "reasonably . . . satisfactory" condition after a marathon nine-hour operation.

The Operations

At A Glance

NEW YORK (AP) — The flurry of dramatic history of human heart transplants:

Dec. 3, 1967, Cape Town, South Africa: Louis Washkansky, 53, received the heart of 25-year-old Denise Darvall, fatally injured in a traffic accident, in the pioneering operation performed by Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard and associates at Groote Schuur Hospital, Washkansky lived for 18 days, succumbing to an overwhelming attack of pneumonia.

Dec. 6, New York City: At Maimonides Hospital, Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz transplanted the heart of a two-day-old boy, dead from brain damage, into the chest of a boy 2½ weeks old. The borrowed heart faltered and stopped 6½ hours after the operation.

Jan. 2, 1968, Cape Town: Dr. Barnard gave to Dr. Philip Blalberg, a 58-year-old dentist, the heart of Clive Haupt, 24, a factory worker dead from a brain hemorrhage. Blalberg is reported in excellent condition.

Jan. 6, Palo Alto, Calif.: Dr. Norman E. Shumway and associates at Stanford University School of Medicine transplanted the heart of Virginia White, 43, dead from a stroke, into Mike Kasperak, 54, a retired steel worker whose heart was failing. Afflicted by liver disease as well, Kasperak is still listed in critical condition, but with his condition slightly improved Tuesday.

Jan. 9, New York: Dr. Kantrowitz performs his second human heart operation to replace an ailing heart with a healthy one.

Kantrowitz said the woman donor had been suffering from a

Kasperak Improved But Condition Still Critical

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — The steady beat of a heart that was another's four days ago helped Mike Kasperak against multiple complications Tuesday, but his condition remained critical.

"Gastro-intestinal bleeding has stopped and liver and kidney functions have slightly improved," a midmorning hospital bulletin said.

The retired steelworker, 54, slept during the night after a visit by his wife, Fernie, and

A neighbor, Mrs. Rose Lo Nigra, recalled that he had been hospitalized "14 times with a heart condition. This is the 15th."

Kasperak's condition was described as satisfactory from the time he was wheeled from the operating room until Monday morning. Then doctors discovered bleeding from his stomach and intestines. His condition became critical.

He received an emergency transfusion of six pints of fresh blood. Fluids were injected through the peritoneal cavity, which contains the abdominal organs, to wash out impurities in the blood. The bleeding, attributed to severe pre-existing liver disease, stopped.

The hospital's Tuesday morning report said Kasperak's pulse rate was 110; his blood pressure 100, slightly better than Monday's "and cardiac (heart) out appears to be normal."

Dr. Norman E. Shumway and a team of Stanford school of medicine surgeons took out Kasperak's grossly enlarged and failing heart Saturday night, and implanted one from the body of Mrs. Virginia White, 43. She had died of a stroke two hours earlier.

McCarthy Refused TV Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — The three major television networks, in letters to the Federal Communications Commission, have refused to offer time to Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., to answer telecast statements by President Johnson.

McCarthy is seeking to give a rebuttal to points the President made in an interview broadcast by the three networks on television and radio Dec. 19. Among other things, Johnson suggested that McCarthy and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., were working together politically, a contention both have denied.

McCarthy also wants to have the networks broadcast his views on the Vietnam war which are opposed to those of the President.

The senator, who says he will challenge Johnson in several presidential primaries, has retained the legal services of Joseph L. Rauh, one of Washington's best known lawyers in the civil liberties field, in connection with the equal time case.

Rauh is expected to file his reply with the commission by Wednesday.

All three networks said McCarthy has no real basis for seeking equal time under an FCC regulation requiring broadcasters to provide equal opportunities to all candidates for the same political office. The networks said the President is not officially a candidate.

having their applications for the state grant in aid, Mayor D. E. Conaway said he contacted Joseph Barr, Secretary of Community Affairs, and was assured that, having checked with the attorney general, there appeared to be no reason why Bill 509 won't become law. It must be signed or vetoed by January 20. Barr advised Warren would be eligible provided no construction gets under way prior to the law being signed. The contractor is aware of this clause, borough manager Victor L. Miller assured. Conaway said Barr offered to send a letter confirming their telephone conversation.

Borough solicitor S. Knox Harper added that since the electorate of both parties voted for the bond issue, chances were remote that it would not be signed into law.

The complex proposed includes an Olympic-size swimming pool, an all-purpose pool, children's wading pool, refreshment area, Sauna baths, shower rooms and a unit to either heat or purify the water. Council meets in adjourned session at 5 p.m. Monday, Jan. 15.

Holiday

permission was granted in both cities.

Asked if Holiday Inn had agreed to a modified sign in State College, Chaffee said there had been some modification but the situation there was different from the usual community. With State College - 25,000 to 30,000 students and large population, Holiday Inn feels no need to advertise.

In Warren County, Chaffee reminded, it could be hoped that a person could pitch a tent one year and the following year remember there was a Holiday Inn.

He likened the possibility of changing the proposed sign to changing the Capitol dome and intimated that unless another site (not zoned) could be found suitable to the construction, the county could well lose the opportunity for having a Holiday Inn located here. Holiday Inn of America, the largest hotel system in the country, Chaffee noted, is not begging for places to go.

The planning commission has set a date for a public hearing regarding rezoning the area contemplated from residential to business transitional. The session will be held at 7:30 p.m. January 18 in the third floor jury room at the court house.

In any event, the final decision as to both the zoning change and possible acceptance of the sign in question as proposed by Chaffee, rest with the county commissioners. They said they will study the situation and hope that the county will get the proposed Holiday Inn.

Chaffee said he planned to come to Warren in the near future and look over sites not yet zoned with Peterson.

Peterson said yesterday the Rogertown site poses other problems, including sewage disposal and water supply as well as some terrain difficulties.

Plane Crashes

ROME (AP) — A U.S. Air Force C-47 transport crashed near Ciampino Military Airport Tuesday killing the pilot, Maj. Mario Cadori, 48, of Byrnedale, Pa.

The pilot, Maj. Dale Pelquin, 37, of Chippewa Falls, Wis., was injured slightly.

Five other U.S. Air Force men on board escaped injury.

RECORD BREAKING TEMPERATURE

Plummeting temperatures both in the U.S. and Canada during the past few days brought all types of complaints. In Ottawa a record breaking temperature of 27 below with a wind chill factor of 63 below brought tears to the eyes of many people on their way to work. Warren temperatures rose Tuesday, bringing relief from the bite in the air.

New Prime Minister Skilled And Colorful Politician

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)

— John Grey Gorton, Australia's new prime minister, is a skilled and colorful politician who says he has been trying to figure out how to run a government since he was 16 years old.

His chance came suddenly. He was not well known even in Australia until after Prime Minister Harold E. Holt vanished while swimming in stormy seas Dec. 17.

But the tall, tanned fruit grower who served a long apprenticeship in government, was elected leader of the Liberal party and thus became prime minister as head of a Liberal-Country party coalition that has governed Australia since 1949.

The 56-year-old Gorton led the Liberal party in the Senate and was government minister for education and science. He succeeds John McEwen who served as interim prime minister after Holt's death.

Gorton has been described as ruthlessly efficient and coldly competent in politics but possessed a certain dash and charm likely to make him a popular personality both at home and abroad.

"For as long as I can remember, starting at the age of 16, I have been trying to figure out how to run a government," Gorton said recently of his involvement in politics. He has served as navy minister, acting minister of foreign affairs and as interior minister.

He operates an orchard at Mystic Park in Victoria and has an American-born wife. They have three children. Gorton was a fighter pilot in World War II and his face bears the scars of an injury suffered when his Hurricane was shot down off Singapore in 1942.

His prime ministership is unlikely to result in any change in Australia's foreign policy, particularly its military contribution to the Vietnam war and its support of U.S. policy in Asia.

Shortly after his election as party chief, Gorton said he hoped to build up the same kind of "unique" relationship with President Johnson as that enjoyed by Holt. He said the relationship had made possible the closes ties between the two countries.

And Gorton announced he would make his first official tour of Asia soon, including a visit to the Australian task force in Vietnam.

Gorton was born Sept. 11, 1911, and completed his formal education at Oxford University where he took a master of arts degree with honors in history. But his accent is pure Aussie, with no Oxford overtones.

He married Bettina Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Brown of Bangor, Maine, in 1935, and brought her to Australia, where he took over his father's orchard.

Jamestown Council Tries Again to Reduce Budget

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — Jamestown's city council met again last night for the twenty second time to work on the record high city budget for 1968. The councilmen are attempting to reduce the budget by another $50,000 to come within the taxing limitations imposed on the city by the State of New York.

City Comptroller, Morland A. Lazier, told the council they are within $30,000 of reaching the limit, but that a $50,000 cut would make provisions for unanticipated expenditures.

New sources of revenue are also being sought by the new council, including, an increase in the cost of parking tickets and a possible utility tax. The increase in parking fines has been agreed upon by the councilmen, and will be passed officially in the near future. Under the new plan, the cost of parking tickets would increase, from $1 to $2 for meter violations, and violations of the alternate parking in no parking zones will be raised to $5 each. The council was in agreement that 72 hours should be allotted to violators to pay their fines, before the fine is doubled. The present time limit is 24 hours. The increase in rates is expected to produce an extra $20,000 in revenue for the city treasury.

City Council President, Fred Anderson, announced that discussions are underway with representatives of the board of public utilities, for the possible adoption of a utility tax. Anderson said, a tax ranging from two to ten percent has been discussed in preliminary meetings.

Snowplow Uncovers Body Of Jamestown Resident

A snow plow uncovered the body of Carl Walter Anderson, 51, of RD 4, Jamestown, N.Y., at about 2 p.m. Tuesday some 100 yards from his home on the Sugar Grove-Big Tree road, according to reports received by this newspaper.

Chautauque County coroner Emmett Eckman ruled Anderson's death as due to exposure. Eckman said he understood Anderson had been missing since Thursday night when someone dropped him off at his home. Presumably he then attempted to walk to his aunt's nearby home, about a quarter or half mile up the road, Eckman said.

His body was reportedly found in a deep ditch beside the road during a search by Town of Busti police, under chief Steve Showers, using a highway department snow plow. Showers could not be reached for comment Tuesday night.

Anderson, who had never married, was self-employed; he had a small farm. His closest relative, a sister, Miss Carrie Anderson, was killed in an automobile accident near Sugar Grove last spring.

He was born at Busti July 26, 1916, the son of John and Albertina Anderson.

Survivors include two aunts, Mrs. Solomon Anderson of RD 4 Jamestown and Mrs. Anna Collinsburg of Mt. Jewett; five cousins, Miss Edith Anderson of Jamestown, N. Y., LeRoy Oberg of DuBois, Mrs. Charles Badger of Hootwood, Pa., Miss Irene Collinsburg of Mt. Jewett, and Mrs. Evelyn Schroletta of Mt. Jewett.

Friends may call at Schoonover Funeral Home, Sugar Grove, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Friday. Funeral services will be held there at 11 a.m. Saturday with the Rev. Keith Tennies officiating. Burial will be in Busti Cemetery.

Oil Lease Fire Leaves Big Area Without Power

Sugar Grove, and portions of the Lander-Russell area, were temporarily without electrical power Tuesday, when a primary power line was severed by an early morning oil lease fire.

According to Carl Wolcott, Sugar Grove fire chief, a fire, on the Flanagan Brothers Oil Lease, about 300 yards from the five-point intersection on the Sugar Grove-Lander road, burned through three conductors of a primary power line causing a power failure about 5 a.m. "The fire, believed to have started from a small fire used to heat the oil tanks, was directly underneath the power line," Wolcott said. "Due to the power failure, it was impossible to sound the fire whistle at the Sugar Grove station," he added.

Chief Wolcott stated, however, that volunteer firemen in the area were notified by telephone and the sounding of sirens on the fire equipment.

"Approximately 16 men responded," Wolcott said. On the scene, it took firemen approximately 25 minutes to control the blaze, according to Wolcott, who said actual fire damage was slight. However power in the borough of Sugar Grove was off for nearly an hour and a half, and some portions, of the Lander-Russell area were without power until mid-morning.

It was not known if any extensive damage resulted from the direct cause of the power failure, Wolcott noted.

Following the fire, electrical lines were repaired by the Pennsylvania Electric Co. The Pennsylvania Department of Highways was called to the scene also to remove ice which had formed on the highway as a result of the large quantities of water which had accumulated and solidified on the road way. The excessive water was the result of melting snow at the scene of the fire.

Warren Girl Escapes Injury

A 17-year-old Warren girl escaped injury yesterday in a one car accident on Conewango ave. near the intersection of Jefferson st., according to Warren Borough police.

The accident occurred at 3:46 p.m. Police said, Sherri A. Bookwalter, 17, of 312 Laurel st., driving north on Conewango ave. attempted to miss a car sliding onto the avenue from Jefferson st.

According to police, she applied her brakes, causing her car to slide into a utility pole at the intersection of Jefferson st. and Conewango ave. Damage to the Bookwalter car was cited at $200, according to police. No charges have been filed, police said.

Form Human Chain

HARRISBURG (AP) — Thirty residents of suburban West Fairview formed a human barrier across a bridge Tuesday to allow school children to cross the span in safety.

Braving sub-freezing temperatures, the citizens sought to dramatize their protest against conditions on the bridge where one child was killed and two others injured on Saturday.

The group, composed mostly of mothers of children who use the bridge daily going to and from school, also planned to present formal petitions to the borough council at its meeting Tuesday night.

The bridge which carries U.S. 11-15 over Pennsylvania Railroad tracks, has been criticized by local residents who have asked that barriers be constructed to protect pedestrian users. Traffic was delayed only long enough for the children to cross.

Powell Arrives In L.A., Plans To Visit Watts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell, breaking his self-imposed exile, arrived in Los Angeles Monday night saying he planned to visit Watts the next day and begin a speaking tour of 14 colleges and universities.

Powell arrived from the Bahamas on his third known trip to the U.S. mainland in the past 12 months, his third known trip to the U.S. mainland in the past 12 months. The former Harlem Democratic congressman left the United States when faced with arrest in New York on a criminal contempt charge.

Powell told newsmen he will speak on what he called the black revolution at 14 colleges and universities across the nation, including the University of Florida, Duke and the University of Michigan. He is scheduled to speak Wednesday at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Asked if he was afraid of being arrested, Powell replied: "Well, if they can arrest Dr. (Benjamin) Spock and Yale University Chaplain William Sloane Coffin Jr., anything can happen, I'm just a poor parish priest."

Powell, a Baptist pastor, referred to indictments against Spock, author of books on baby-care, and Coffin on charges of inciting persons to avoid the draft.

Shipment of Timber to Japan May Result in Court Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The lumber industry and union leaders threatened Tuesday to go to federal court if the government won't agree to halt vast shipments of raw timber from U.S.-owned lands to Japan.

Japanese buyers have bid timber prices up double and already put 27 U.S. sawmills out of business and wiped out more than 4,000 American jobs, said the National Forest Products Association and the AFL-CIO Carpenters Union.

"I think we're going to come up with some ghost towns out there," said the carpenters' treasurer, Peter Terzick, of the sawmill closings in Washington and Oregon.

Both Terzick and Mortimer B. Doyle, executive vice president of the Forest Products Association, said at a news conference they believe the annual sales to Japan of some 600 million board feet of timber from U.S. lands is illegal.

Union and industry leaders have talked with White House, State Department, Treasury Department and U.S. forestry officials, but Terzick said they have received little more than lip service so far.

"We're not just going to be sitting here going down the drain," Terzick said.

"If it has to be legal action, it will be legal action. If it has to be legislation, it will be legislation," he said of proposals to halt the exports at least temporarily.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., has promised congressional hearings into the matter later this month.

Doyle and Terzick said the 1897 National Forest Act requires timber from U.S. lands to be used mainly in the United States, and that none can be exported if it endangers domestic supplies.

Terzick said federal officials appeared to be dragging their feet in acting on industry and union complaints because the approximately $400 million annual sales of U.S. owned timber to Japan is helping solve the U.S. balance of payments problem.

Another one billion board feet worth some $700 million was sold from private U.S. lands to the Japanese last year, Doyle said.

"This is shortsighted because if the Japanese can't buy the logs, they'll buy the lumber and the value of the lumber is about twice the value of the logs," Terzick said.

The Japanese are willing to pay higher prices than U.S. buyers for the raw timber because they can't buy certain kinds of wood anywhere else, and they can turn it into finished products with cheaper Japanese labor, he added.

Deserters Granted Asylum

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Sweden formally granted asylum Tuesday to four American Navy men who deserted from the U.S. aircraft carrier Intrepid in Japan Oct. 23 to protest the Vietnam war.

The sailors were invited to apply for alien passports, which would enable them to travel freely anywhere within the country.

The U.S. State Department declined comment on the decision.

Press officer Carl Barch told a Washington news conference, however, the U.S. government is ready to assist the four to return to the United States, "should they ask for such assistance," and to assist the parents if they want to visit their sons in Sweden.

The Aliens Commission, in deciding unanimously to approve sanctuary for the four, said it did not consider them to be political refugees, but that they would be allowed to remain in Sweden for "humanitarian reasons."

Richard S. Bailey of Jacksonville, Fla., acting as spokesman for the deserters, said they were grateful to the commission for not considering them political refugees.

"We said in Japan that we are not interested in politics and we have not changed our minds since then," said Bailey, whose father is a commander in the U.S. Naval Reserve.

The others are John M. Barilla, Catonsville, Md., Craig Anderson, San Jose, Calif., and Michael Lindner, Pocono, Pa.

The sailors arrived Dec. 29 from Moscow, where they voiced protests against the war on television and in Soviet newspapers. On leaving the Soviet Union, each received $1,000.

Winter Sports Return

To have a dread of the hard winters so common to our part of the country has been common practice in the Warren area over the past several years. As soon as the blustery northwinds came along with their burdens of powdery snow the average citizen hurried into semi-hibernation and spent the cold months toasting his shins at the family fireplace unless dire necessity forced him out of doors.

But almost suddenly, it seems, the trend is changing. As a community we are awakening to the pleasurable activities that abound in the winter wonderland surrounding us and are showing all of the enthusiasm our forefathers had for our snow-covered countryside as they planned sleigh rides, sledloads, or ice skating parties on the local mill pond.

We are coming to realize a fact that was common knowledge in the early part of the century. That is that winter, with all of its frigid winds and chilling snow, can be a time of exhilarating outdoor pleasure. And it can be more of a pleasure now than it was then because we have so many diversified means of enjoying the opportunities it offers.

There is skiing, tobogganing and sledding. Ice skating on several modern rinks. Ice fishing and fox hunting, and always the pleasure of driving snow-covered roads that wend their way through silent forests draped in shimmering whiteness.

Today, though, the outdoor driver is not limited to the plowed roadways. The Jeep-type vehicle will take him over the unplowed roads, or the sno-mobile will take him into the heart of the forest on unmarked paths.

The enthusiasm generated by these activities suggests other opportunities that should be explored. Opportunities that will provide more and better opportunities to enjoy the winter months.

Presently in the planning stage for the Warren community is the second annual winter carnival of the Warren Field and Stream Club at Chapman Dam. An event that provides activities for the dedicated participant and the interested onlooker in almost equal proportions.

Later in the season a trained cross-country skier will attempt to interest others in this family-type sport that is so outstandingly popular in the Scandinavian countries. On a selected weekend a course will be laid out and the skiers will take off to glide silently through the forest to an established rendezvous where hot coffee and refreshments will be waiting.

In addition, the staff of the Allegheny National Forest is currently engaged in laying out a sno-mobile course that will cover extensive parts of the 400 miles of unplowed roads that exist on the federal lands.

So it can be said that the Warren community is truly awakened to the opportunities for outdoor pleasure available in the winter months. Semi-hibernation is neither popular nor practical. And if winter sports continue to be popular for a time there is little question we will soon have visitors coming to the county to enjoy them with us as they do our summertime sports.

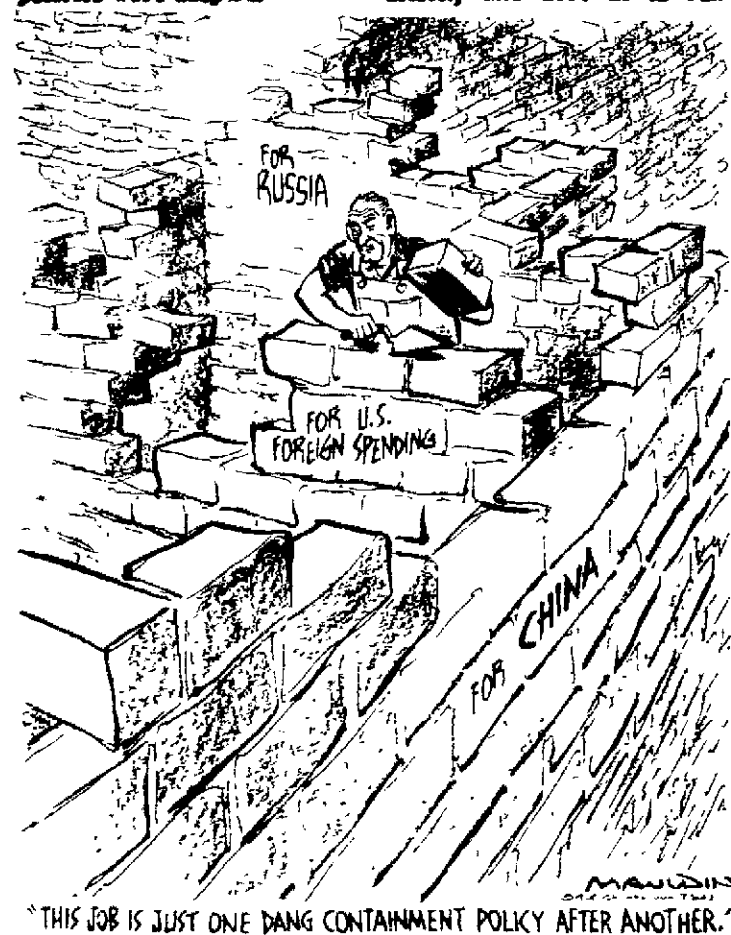

JAMES RESTON

Limited View of Priorities

WASHINGTON — Sen. Eugene McCarthy, a mild and puckish character, remarked privately here the other day that maybe we should abandon gold as the basis of the world's monetary system and substitute S and H green stamps. Nobody else has cracked a joke as good here in last month.

The mood is grim, for the dollar crisis has finally made the President recognize, if not admit, what he has always denied before, namely, that he has promised more than he can deliver at home and abroad and must take unusual measures to try to bring his resources and his commitments into better balance.

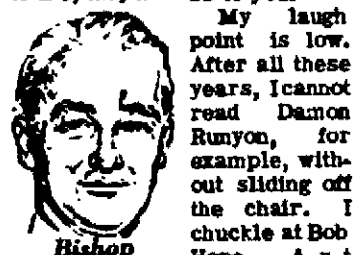

Even after the British devalued the pound and sold half a billion dollars worth of securities to help the sterling crisis, the President was still hoping to avoid some of the emergency measures he finally took to save the dollar. But in December alone, a United States gold reserve of $25 million was sold, the sterner policies were adopted.

JIM BISHOP Difficult To Define Comedy

Comedy is difficult to define. The dictionary doesn't help it. It reads: "A play, movie, etc., of light and humorous character with a happy or cheerful ending." It may be closer to say: A series of events reduced to the absurd. The weakness, of course, is that what is funny to me, may not be to you.

Bishop

My laugh point is low. After all these years, I cannot read Damon Runyon, for example, without sliding off the chair. I chuckle at Bob Hope. A rare laugh rarely does a female make me laugh. An exception is Phyllis Diller, the scented broom. She laughs like a rockslide. Once, when she visited our house, her stories of how to run a home rattled the windows. Also, the notions were nutty. Fawcett has made a book of them, "Phyllis Diller's Housekeeping Hints." The true test of comedy is to try the same story again. If you laugh, it's comedic or else you need a few emotional buttons resewn.

Miss Diller, who looks like a exclamation mark standing on its head, is a wild woman. Have a few of her hints:

"Don't feel you have to bathe your baby every day. He won't tell anybody." "Never go to bed mad. Stay up and fight." "Do not taste food while you're cooking. You may lose your nerve to serve it." "If your kids write their names on the furniture, don't let them put the year."

Bob Hope says of Phyllis Diller: "Her kitchen is so poorly organized she keeps a mouse on a leash so she can find the cheese." She ignores him. "Buy the biggest house you can find," she writes, "so that when your children grow up and your husband says: 'Why don't you get a job?' you can say: 'With this house?'"

"Buy the house far away from school so your kids can't come home for lunch. During spring housecleaning time, put your arm in a sling. If some girl friends drop in for a visit, stack a dozen get-well cards on the piano. Hide your husband's golf shoes; he will clean up the cellar looking for them."

"To get a roaster clean, send something like baked apples in it to a neighbor." "If your husband complains and says: 'Get busy,' tell him 'All right, if you want that clean sterile look.' When someone points to a cobweb, say: 'On, you mean Willie's science project...'"

"If your neighbor, Mrs. Clean wants to look upstairs, tell her there is no upstairs; the steps are fake. One thing you must do is clean the mirrors. I have a diary type face — a line a day — but dusty wrinkles? Efficient housewives no longer sweep dust under rugs — they push it down the cold ducts."

"My next house is going to have the kitchen upstairs, so I don't keep running into it. I'm afraid to say to my husband, Fang, 'If you don't work, you don't eat,' because it's no threat. Food tastes better outdoors; plan a picnic 365 days a year. Spot a domestic looking wife in a supermarket and copy her grocery cart."

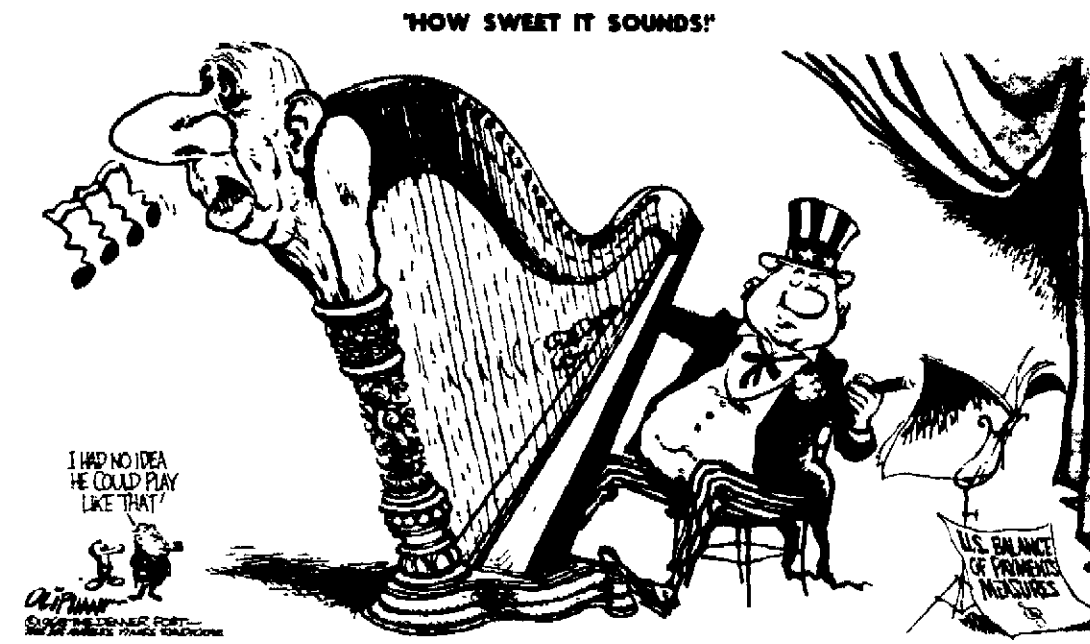

"Fang said: 'I want you to be an old-fashioned housewife. Start by dressing a chicken. He must be kidding; it took me three weeks to make the blouse. Scotch tape holds a meat loaf together beautifully, if you're out of Band-Aids. A little ketchup covers the flavor.'"

"When someone phones unexpectedly, throw everything down the clothes chute, including the kids. Everything shows up when you permit sunlight to come through the windows. Either entertain at night, or close the drapes and break the cord."

One of the chapter headings is: "Remember, My Tranquilizers Are Coming Out of Your Allowance." Children make a woman nervous. "My eight-year-old bought a bicycle with money he saved by not smoking. I keep asking mine, 'Why can't you be like other kids and grow up too fast?'"

Her hints on the care of children are progressive: "Never approach a child with hands extended. Make a fist and use a calm tone. Never permit the children to accept a ride. They get home too soon. Daughters should help. My girls fight over who has to press 'Start' on the dishwasher."

Her husband told her she wouldn't know it was raining out unless the phone leaked. "Let's put it this way: It's 4:30 p.m. and you're still in bed. That's close to O'Clock Time. Put a drop of O'Clock oil behind each ear. It makes you smell tired." Maybe she is a nut. . . .

American Captives Gallant

WASHINGTON — BRAVE PRISONERS — Word has filtered back from Communist prison camps that American captives are behaving gallantly. With rare exceptions they are resisting Viet Cong indoctrination attempts. Special racial appeals to Negro POWs have fallen on deaf ears. The prisoners have made repeated attempts to escape, though they know that it is almost impossible to elude their jungle-wise captors and that the punishment will be terrible. Conditions in the camps are reported often to be subhuman. There is seldom enough food and medicine, and some prisoners have died of starvation. One English-speaking defector, who had been trained to indoctrinate captive Americans, reported that the Americans were taking care of one another with a team spirit that the Communists had been unable to break down.

NEGRO CHAIRMAN — Only two Negroes have risen to House chairmanships in the history of Congress. Last year, Adam Clayton Powell was summarily stripped of his chairmanship, then ousted from the House altogether by his white colleagues. Now the other Negro chairman, Illinois' venerable Bill Dawson, is facing a revolt from disgruntled members of his House Government Operations Committee. The ringleaders are young Republicans — Reps. John Wyder of New York, Donald Rumsfeld of Illinois and Clarence Brown Jr., of Ohio — who have stirred up some Democratic support. However, not all the Southern Democrats will go along. Reps. Porter Hardy of Virginia and Jack Brooks of Texas, for example, are loyal to the old Negro. At most, the mutiny might succeed in curbing Dawson's powers, but not in removing him as chairman.

HUMPHREY GO HOME! — The shouting, kicking Congolese demonstration against Vice President Hubert Humphrey, though it produced headlines around the world, was really a bust. For more than a week, the Communists had been trying to stir up a demonstration, yet they were able to recruit less than 100 volunteers out of a city of 1,500,000. The crowds were so wildly enthusiastic that Humphrey phoned the White House from the Congo to report how impressed President Joseph Mobutu was. Yet the news dispatches played up the handful of dissenters who shouted, "Humphrey go home!"

APPEASING MILLS — President Johnson struck a couple of key sentences out of the statement that White House aide Ben Wattenberg prepared for him upon the signing of the 116-page Social Security bill. The President complained in the statement about "certain severe restrictions" which Congress had made in his proposals for child aid. The original draft went on to denounce these restrictions as "harmful" and "injurious." When House Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., had presented the child-aid amendments on the House floor, however, he had contended specifically that the changes would have no "harmful" effect. LBJ told aides he didn't want to antagonize Mills by flatly contradicting him.

Unknown to the public, the federal economy wave has washed out research projects that may seriously hamper scientific development in the years ahead.

The Johnson administration, under Congressional pressure to slash federal spending, has squeezed dubious savings out of the research program. For pure research seldom produces immediate results, therefore can be cut without causing a public outcry.

If the public is unaware of the reductions in research, however, the cuts are noticeable at the National Bureau of Standards in out-of-the-way Gaithersburg, Md. This new scientific center, just outside Washington, is in danger of becoming a scientific ghost town.

The Bureau of Standards, which was established to set official weights and measures, has become the headquarters for pure research. Its scientists not only test the research of others but explore the unknown themselves. Its laboratories have produced information that has stimulated scientists around the world.

Unfortunately for the bureau's public relations, these research projects often are incomprehensible to laymen, and the fruits may not be realized for years. Still, the bureau has made essential contributions to man's understanding of his environment.

The economy edicts have caused no mass firings as yet. However, scientists have been quietly encouraged to leave, and the job vacancies are left empty.

"They tell us," said one top scientist, "that if we get another job, we should grab it." Other scientists told us they hope to stay on at the bureau and complete their work, despite the government's eagerness to get rid of them.

"I guess a lot of us have loyalty to what the bureau stands for," explained one.

An official spokesman, though reluctant to discuss the cutbacks, admitted that more personnel cuts are planned and that reductions-in-force notices will be issued soon to many employees. While other government agencies have been ordered to restrict new hirings, the Bureau of Standards is one of few that have been compelled to make reductions in force.

It may be another generation, however, before the real impact of this cost saving reaches the American people.

Biggest Tax Scramble Ever

Never has there been a government scramble for taxes to equal what is now going on in the U.S., not even at the peak of World War II in the 1940s.

It's coming at us from the states, the cities, the counties, the towns, and from Washington. It's taking the form of both direct and indirect taxes, of both outright and hidden levies. It's involving just about every type of tax so far conceived at the federal, state and local levels, meaning taxes and surtaxes on personal and corporate incomes, taxes and surtaxes on sales and property.

Federal income tax rates have been higher than they are today, but in this era, federal tax rates are only one aspect of the story. What's new is the breadth and variety of the tax scramble, the pervasiveness of the tax pinch.

Social Security taxes have been going up steadily to new peaks, and if you earn more than $6,600, your tax contribution will increase again this year.

The new maximum for all of us who earn $7,800 or more is $343.20, up $52.80 over 1967. Federal income tax rates were cut in 1964 but as your income has increased, the progressive nature of our income tax has increased your total tax contribution to new highs. Now comes renewed debate over a federal surtax, and if this is passed, your federal tax payment will be hiked further.

At the state and local levels, the tax pressure is relentless. There are about 80,000 taxing jurisdictions in the U.S. and many of them raise taxes almost automatically every year.

During this decade to date the 50 states have enacted about 200 increases in the rates of their major tax, including 8 new retail sales taxes.

In 1967, Michigan and Nebraska enacted new personal income taxes, raising the number of states taxing personal incomes to 38; Michigan, Nebraska and West Virginia also enacted new corporate income taxes, raising the number of states taxing corporate earnings to 40.

A full 44 states have general sales taxes. All states tax gasoline and year after year, raise the rates; all states except North Carolina tax cigarettes and here too, the pattern is for yearly increases. Property taxes go in only one direction — up. Ontop of all these are business taxes, fees and charges in a host of guises and disguises.

In New York, we've been given our news. A $500 million state tax increase in 1968 is considered "inevitable" with proposals including a 20 per cent surcharge on the state income tax, plus increases in business, liquor and gasoline taxes. New York City is in its customary budget panic.

In California, 1967 saw the biggest tax increase ever passed by a state, despite Governor Reagan's pledge to curtail spending, and reports are that 1968 will see further tax hikes to cover an anticipated deficit.

Taxes on top of taxes, and no end is in sight. This is scheduled to be an off year for legislative sessions (only 27 legislatures are meeting against 48 in 1967), but the Tax Foundation expects "tax legislation to be very strong for an off year."

State and local spending has more than quadrupled in the past 20 years and the Tax Foundation foresees it almost doubling again by 1975.

In a little noticed recent analysis, the President's just resigned chief economic adviser, Gardner Ackley, put the prospect matter-of-factly: "at the state and local levels, there is little reason to expect any substantial deviation from recent trends, and the common expectation of an $8 to $9 billion increase in spending in 1968 seems quite safe."

At the height of World War II, taxes took about 25 cents of every $1 of our total output of goods and services. In 1968, taxes probably will take 30 cents of every $1 of output. And there is no way out for any of us as long as spending trends continue as they are.

MASON DENISON

Happy Contrast --For Us

HARRISBURG — The contrast between Pennsylvania and New York in at least one respect is a happy one — for Pennsylvanians.

The basic reason: Governor Shafer in his projection for fiscal 1968-69 allows as how he is not about to propose any new taxes for the Keystone State.

(This is a bit of a comedown from the mid-point of his first year in office when the estimated projection at that time ran as high as $300 million in new revenues for the upcoming fiscal year even with clearance — which subsequently developed — of his $300 million in additional needed for the current year.)

In contrast, in neighboring New York State at about the same time Mr. Shafer was telling his Legislature of his no-new-tax plans, Governor Nelson Rockefeller was addressing his legislative brood. What he had to say didn't make anybody happy.

Mr. Rockefeller called for a $500 million boost in taxes this year in the Empire State — a most interesting pronouncement from several standpoints.

In the first place this is a presidential election year. Mr. Shafer isn't running for anything. Mr. Rockefeller is regarded somewhat as a man-about-town for the GOP presidential nod. Somehow it would seem as though the two situations should be reversed.

The general consensus around Capitol Hill here is that if Mr. Rockefeller is seriously considering the presidential possibility, a tax increase (particularly of such proportions) would be about the last move he would make. (All of which would seem to indicate therefore that he isn't very serious about the GOP presidential spot after all.)

What he had to say to his lawmakers sounded something like what Governor Shafer had to say to his own brood — only considerably more expansive.

Mr. Rockefeller said he had been swamped with requests for state aid — for schools, medical aid and for other welfare programs — that would require the state to raise a whopping $1.5 billion more than it will take under New York State's present tax schedule.

Allowing that this was out of the question, His New York State Excellency opined: "We must judge what we want by what we can afford."

If this sounds somewhat vaguely familiar, there is good reason, for just the day before, Pennsylvania's Governor Shafer told his own legislative brood:

"At this very moment, my administration has before it for consideration, requests totaling more than $500 million over the present budget — but to approve all these requests, you would be required to enact at least $300 million in new revenue measures for the 1968-69 budget."

At which point Mr. Shafer opined: "If our present revenue structure cannot provide the necessary money, then we must either change the structure or start cutting from the bottom. The time is now for us to distinguish between that which may be desirable and that which is essential."

Another point of fiscal comparison perhaps worth noting: Mr. Rockefeller indicated his budget (when he presents it to his Legislature in mid-month) will be in the neighborhood of $5.5 billion.

On the other hand, Governor Shafer's Keystone State budget (when he offers it sometime in March) is expected to hover around the $2 billion mark, perhaps a fiscal hair or two under.

Funny thing about all this: Mr. Rockefeller was talking to a politically-split legislature; Mr. Shafer was doing virtually the same, although the split was running in a different direction through two prime channels: (1) — within administration legislative ranks, and (2) — lack of adequate strength in the House of Representatives (thanks to GOP vacancies) to even pass a piece of legislation!

Old-Fashioned Homemade Cake

Does an old-fashioned "start from scratch" cake really merit the extra effort above that of preparing a packaged cake? Sometimes no, sometimes yes.

Though it will take a little longer to prepare "Gold Cake" than one of the package mix cakes, your time will be well spent. It's doubtful you could find a mix to duplicate the very fine, close grain and unusual taste of this delicious cake.

The recipe has been developed to perfection: to combine the subtle flavors of crunchy almonds, orange and curacao to make a light textured cake that bespeaks your extra care. The "Browned Butter Icing," accented with almond extract and curacao, is most complementary.

Surprisingly, "Gold Cake" is easy to prepare. Once you've measured and assembled the ingredients, you mix them almost as you would a package mix. Like many old-fashioned, home-made cakes, "Gold Cake" should be wrapped and stored overnight to develop proper moistness and character before you frost it.

GOLD CAKE
2½ cups sifted cake flour
1 cup sugar

2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine, softened
5 egg yolks
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon almond extract
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
2 tablespoons curacao or orange juice
½ cup diced almonds, roasted
Browned Butter Icing.

BROWNED BUTTER ICING
¼ cup butter or margarine
2½ to 3 cups sifted powdered sugar
2 tablespoons curacao or orange juice

½ teaspoon almond extract
Sift flour with sugar, baking powder and salt into mixer bowl; add butter, egg yolks, milk, flavorings and orange rind. Beat 2 minutes at medium speed. Add curacao and beat 2 more minutes. Fold in almonds. Turn into greased 9x5-x 3-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees 1 hour or until it tests done. Cool 10 minutes then invert and cool on rack. Wrap and store overnight if possible. Frost with Browned Butter Icing.

BROWNED BUTTER ICING:
Lightly brown butter in saucepan. Remove from heat; gradually beat in sugar, curacao and almond extract.
Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Quick Recipes for Robust Winter Meals

Savory canned corned beef gives protein "oomph" to this easy macaroni casserole. In 1½-quart casserole gently mix 2 cups COOKED macaroni; 1 can (10 ounces) corned beef, broken into small chunks; 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce; 1 tablespoon prepared mustard; and ½ teaspoon basil. Garnish top with 4 slices process American cheese, halved diagonally. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Jazz up meat loaf with this high-powered, baked-on sauce. Combine 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce, 2 tablespoons prepared horseradish, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard and dash pepper. Pour over meat loaf and bake as usual. Makes about 1 cup sauce.

Always popular with youngsters and their busy moms are ground beef and macaroni skillet dishes like this one. Cook 1 pound ground beef; 1 cup sliced celery; 1 onion, chopped; and 1 green pepper, chopped, until vegetables are tender. Add 2 cups UNCOOKED macaroni, 2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce with cheese, 2 cups water, 1 teaspoon garlic salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Cover and bring to boil; reduce heat and cook gently 15 minutes or until macaroni is tender.

Make this zesty "Italian" sauce to pour over fish before baking or heat and serve over broiled or fried fish fillets. Combine 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce with mushrooms, 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan

Seasonal Salad
In the middle of winter, toss a salad of shredded western iceberg lettuce with juicy fresh grapefruit sections, sliced radishes and crisp, crumbled bacon.

cheese, ¼ teaspoon dried oregano and ½ teaspoon garlic salt. Makes about 1 cup sauce.

Snow Cap
To top broccoli or Brussels sprouts, thin mayonnaise with white wine or lemon juice and milk; add sliced natural (un-blanched) almonds.

The Carnival

If initial preparations and tentative plans means anything the Warren Field and Stream Club's winter carnival, to be held February 10 and 11, is going to be a bang-up affair that will set the pace for outdoor winter activities for a long time to come.

Jack Skinner, president of the club, has gathered together a corps of committee heads and has charged them with the task of coming up with a wide range of activities that will meet the recreational needs of any member of any family. The resulting program is one that will provide two full days of fun and entertainment on the ice at Chapman Dam.

At a recent planning meeting Skinner announced that permission for the event had been granted by the Pennsylvania Department of Forest and Waters and that a release to concessionaire rights had been obtained from Theater Candy Company of Pittsburgh.

At the same meeting two members of the Kinzua Valley CB Rangers, D. Reagle and J. Engman, volunteered to approach their club on the possibility of furnishing communication facilities to cover all events at the carnival. It was thought that with club participation as many as 16 two-way radios could be had to report progress of the various activities.

Chairman Bud Jones of the Ice Fishing Contest said that the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, because of a phone call to Director Bob Bielo by officers of the Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau, had promised a special stocking of trout for the carnival and that already some merchants had donated prizes to be awarded to winning contestants.

Refreshments on the ground will be served by the Warren Field and Stream Club (Fox Hole Inn) and the Kinzua Valley CB Rangers. In addition the Kalbfus Club will be open to the public to serve food and possibly conduct a Bingo game.

Co-chairmen Howard Dobson and Bob Holmes said that arrangements had been made to have large tents erected on the grounds in which equipment and sporting supplies can be displayed by dealers. It is expected that several different makes of sno-mobiles will be shown during the carnival.

It is also expected that much of the interest at the carnival will be centered on the sno-mobile rally to be held on Sunday afternoon. A twenty mile course of marked trails in the woodlands surrounding the dam has been laid out on which the "timed" rally will be conducted. Bob Jackson, chairman of this committee, has announced both trophies and a cash award to the winners of this contest.

It will be on Sunday afternoon, too, that the sno-mobile now on display at the Northwestern Savings and Loan building will be given to a lucky ticket holder. Ed Bimber is chairman of the committee handling the ticket sales.

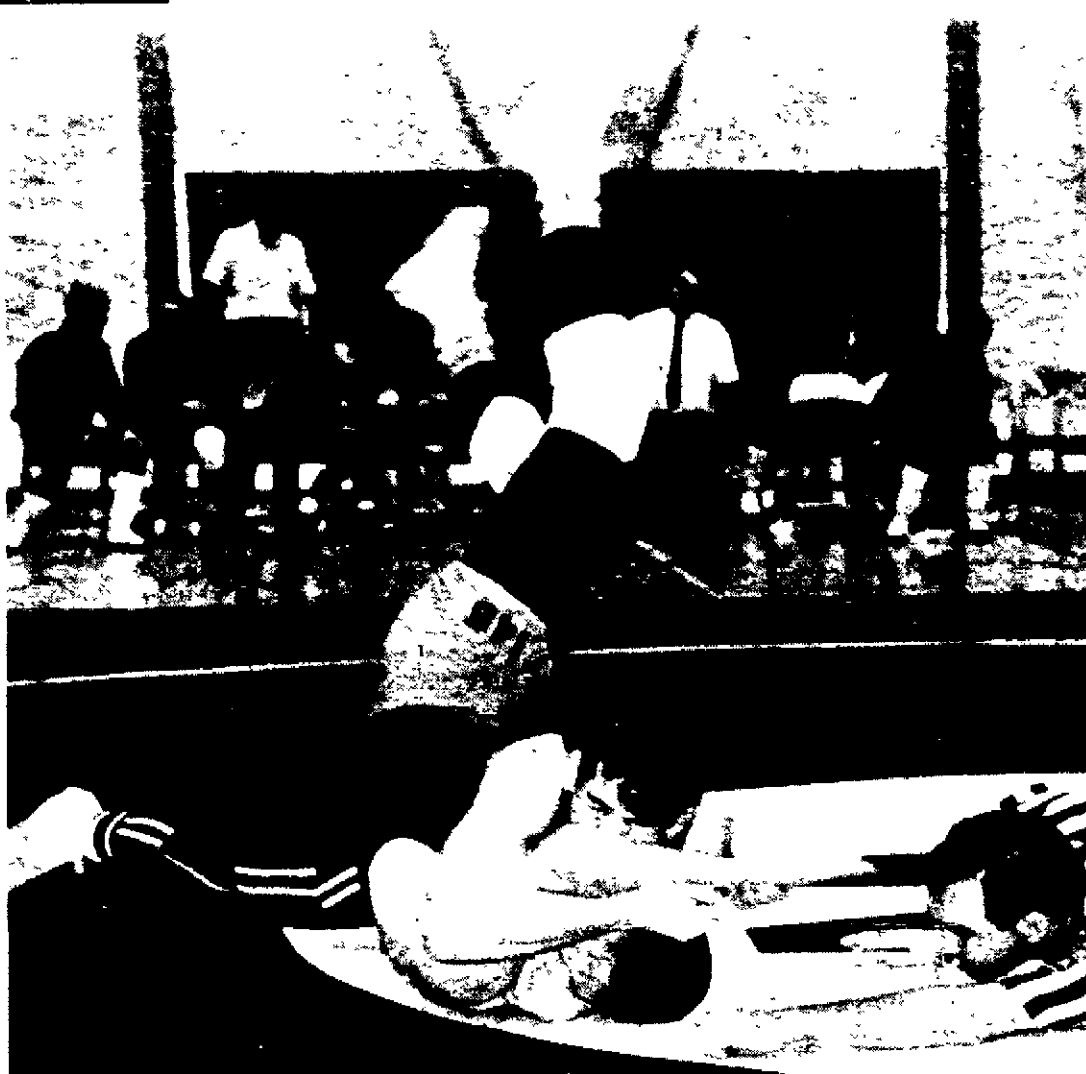

Special events at the carnival, according to committee chairman Lyle Shanley, will include ice skating, snowshoe race, dog sled rides, a go-devil race, and an ice auger contest. It is also hoped that the Warren Art League can be interested in holding a snow sculpturing contest in one section of the grounds, with the Warren Field and Stream Club awarding a trophy to the winner. And that arrangements can be made with the Hack and Tack Stables at Clarendon to have both horses and sleigh rides available.

Chairman J. Scherer reported that his committee was working with Midtown Motors to acquire a group of sno-mobile artists who specialize in trick handling of the frisky machines for an appearance at Chapman Dam during the carnival. He said, too, that some chainsaw demonstrations were being lined up.

Later developments regarding the carnival have been many. The explorer troop of Boy Scouts sponsored by the Allegheny National Forest (Explorer Post 53) has agreed to work with the Warren Field and Stream Club in staging the carnival. Bob Rich has agreed to work as a co-chairman on the special events committee. And Mayor Don Conaway has indicated that he will sign a proclamation naming the week of February 5-11 as Warren Winter Carnival Week.

The mayor has agreed to this because in addition to the winter carnival being presented on the weekend, the Warren Field and Stream Club is presenting their annual Wally Taber show on February 7. It is hoped that plans for other events of interest to sportsmen can be arranged to fill in the other days of the week.

In all the Warren Field and Stream Club is going all out to put a winter carnival for Warren on the annual agenda. They are spending a lot of money and devoting a lot of effort to reach their goal. They are determined to see the event eventually become somewhat of a "snow bound Fourth of July," and (By Golly!) they might do just that.

WHAT GOES UP

Dragon 145-pound Mike Maines has Corry's Clark Eaton nearly perpendicular to the mat in the first period of their match last night, but couldn't hold him there. Maines went on to an easy 10-2 decision to stay undefeated and the Dragons remained perfect with a 29-9 triumph over the visiting Beavers. See story below. (Photo by Mahan)

WILLIAMS, JONES SCORE UPSETS

Dragons Stay Undefeated, Overpower Beavers, 29-9

By LARRY G. STEELE

Sports Editor
Warren Area High School pulled a few surprises to easily win visiting Corry in a Section II wrestling match last night, 29-9, and stay undefeated in dual and tournament competition.

Triumphs in four of the first five matches, including upset victories by Mark Williams at 103 and Steve Jones at 120, got the Dragons off to an early lead and they coasted to their fifth straight win.

In all, the Blue and White took nine of twelve varsity matches, and improved slightly on last Friday's victory over Franklin by registering one pin.

The lone fall, however, was a big one as Jones rallied to defeat favored Dean Fralick, a Beaver veteran, and after that the issue was never in doubt.

Jones, who has come on since an opening match loss to town six straight, trailed Fralick by a 3-0 score after two periods of wrestling. An escape midway through the final two minutes narrowed the gap to 3-1, then the Dragon senior took Fralick to the mat with 39 seconds remaining to tie the score, and recorded the fall with 27 seconds left.

Earlier, Williams came back from a 2-0 deficit to Corry's Larry Dingfelder by scoring reversal and predicament points in the third period for a 5-2 victory.

The combination of wins by Williams and Jones offset Corry ace Dick Harrington's 8-2 win over previously unbeaten Jim Mead in the 133-pound bout. In addition to Williams and Jones, Dane Sorensen, Doug Sorensen, Mike Maines, Ray Lowe, Bob Thompson, Darrell Pusateri and Lee Bryan put points on the scoreboard for the Dragons.

Starting with Maines, Warren swept the last five matches after Corry had taken two in the middle of the lineup.

The Beavers tallied first when Jeff Jackson defeated Warren's Bob Sequist, 9-4, in the 95-pound match.

Then the victory by Williams tied the score and when Dane Sorensen whitewashed Ron Savko of the Beavers, 6-0, at 112 the Dragons took the lead and were never headed.

Sorensen's romp came on a first period takedown, a reversal in the middle stanza and 5:23 in riding time. The pin by Jones put Warren in the driver's seat, 11-3, and Doug Sorensen edged Alan Higley of the Beavers, 1-0 at 127 to keep the ball rolling.

An escape with just one second left in the second period was the margin of victory for Sorensen, who rode out the last two minutes to hold it.

Corry's Harrington took control of the 133-pound bout with Mead near the end of the first period and cut Warren's margin to 14-6.

The Beavers scored their last team points when undefeated Mike Thomas slipped past Warren's Steve Kaiser, 6-5, at 138, but it took riding time for him to notch the win, trailing 5-3 until late in the last period. Kaiser knotted the score on a reversal with two seconds left in the match, but 1:40 in control time gave Thomas the winning point.

At 145, Maines retained his perfect record by pouncing Clark Eaton of the Beavers, 10-2. He had Eaton on his back late in the opening stanza, but couldn't hold him and had to be content with a decision.

Lowie outclassed Corry's Dennis Brown for six minutes and an easy 7-2 triumph in the 154-pound match. He jumped off to a 5-0 advantage after two periods, then gave up a reversal in the third, but added nearly three minutes of riding time to win handily.

All of Thompson's scoring came in the third period for a 5-0 win over lanky Dave Sekerak of Corry in the 165-pound bout. Following a no-takedown first period, Thompson rode out the second, then was awarded a penalty point in the third and clinched it with a reversal midway through the stanza.

Pusateri manhandled Dennis Bogert of Corry in the 180-pound match, 13-0. He scored in every period, had the Beaver on his back twice and added nearly five minutes in control time.

Bryan got more competition than he bargained for from Corry's Dan Corbett in the heavyweight battle. Despite a warning for stalling against the Beaver in the opening frame, and two minutes of riding time in the second, it took an escape with just one second showing on the clock in the last stanza for Bryan to notch the win.

Warren also took an exhibition match when Dan Albaugh whipped Corry's Dave Sekerak, 6-2, at 88-pounds and the Dragon junior varsity made it complete by routing the Little Beavers in the preliminary, 40-6.

The Dragons wrestle their first road match on Friday, traveling to Rocky Grove, then returning home on Tuesday to host defending Section II champion Meadville.

Clay Draft Appeal

Slated Next Month

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Arguments on former heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay's appeal of his conviction on a charge of refusing to be drafted were scheduled Monday to begin Feb. 19 at Houston. Clay has been free under $15,000 appeal bond. He received the maximum sentence of five years in prison and $10,000 fine upon his conviction June 20.

WOLVERINES, EAGLES POST TRIUMPHS

Corry Nips Dragon Five; Tidioute Surprises Ike

County cage action came out a little more favorable for the local teams last night as Sheffield bounced back from its loss to Brockway to down East Forest 90-62; Youngsville trounced West Forest, 91-51, and Tidioute upset Eisenhower 72-69. The Warren Dragons fell to Corry, 63-58, in a close pinch.

The Dragons played a close, hot game with the Beavers, pacing them all the way, but then lost the game with 1:28 left in the final period as Corry froze the ball and the Dragons became jittery and committed three fouls to give up the winning points.

The O'Neill brothers shared scoring honors as Ed netted nine field goals and three buckets from the charity stripe for 21 points and brother Dan made eight field goals and three from the foul line for 19 points.

Three Beaver cagers scored in double columns with Fred Schwab leading all by netting five field goals and seven buckets from the foul line for a total of 17 points. Dave Curtis netted 14 points for the Orange and Black and Scoop Sample collected 12.

The Beavers held the edge at the end of the first quarter, 20-18, but the Dragons allowed them only one additional point in the second quarter to end the first half with the Beavers leading 34-31.

Third period action gave the Orange and Black another point as they moved ahead at the end of the stanza, 47-43. The fourth quarter saw the Dragons stage a hot pursuit to overtake the Beavers as the lead tilted from one squad to the other.

With a little over a minute left in the final stanza the game was tied at 58-58. The Beavers then held the ball waiting for the opportune time to shoot. With only 1:17 left and the score still tied, the Dragons fouled Sample, who made only one of the two shots he received. This moved the Beavers out in front by 59-58. The Dragons snagged the rebound on the missed shot but failed to connect on their attempt and Corry gained possession of the ball again.

The Beavers used the same scheme this time as Sample was again fouled with only 24 seconds left to play. This time the Beaver cager shot a perfect one-and-one to move Corry ahead, 61-58. With three seconds left the Warren cagers became desperate and another foul was charged against the Blue and White. This time Curtis stepped to the charity stripe and collected two points for the Beavers to lead them to victory, 63-58.

The jayvee game was a little easier for the Blue and White as they posted a 66-39 victory over the Beaver squad.

The Tidioute Bulldogs collected their first win of the season. The Bulldog squad worked entirely as a team as they paced the Knights throughout the contest and then gained the edge in the last seconds.

The Bulldogs were paced by Ed Ziegler with 29 points and Mark Rondinelli with 28. Both cagers collected 12 field goals but Ziegler netted one more foul shot than Rondinelli.

The Knights were again led by Bob Burlingame with 32. Burlingame was injured in the second quarter and finished the game with his ankle wrapped.

Tim Allen also scored high for the Blue and Gold as he collected five field goals and six buckets from the charity stripe for 16 points.

The Bulldogs gained a four point edge in the first quarter however it was soon lost as the Knights entered the shower room at halftime leading 42-40. Fast third period play moved the Orange and Black ahead as they again led at the end of the stanza, 60-57.

The fourth quarter was the showdown as the lead bounced from team to team. With less than a minute to go the cagers were deadlocked, 69-69. A foul hurt the Knights as Rondinelli stepped to the charity stripe and moved the Bulldogs ahead, 70-69. With the Blue and Gold desperately trying to gain possession of the ball, the Bulldogs staged a freeze. Ziegler collected the final jumper from outside the key to give Tidioute the 72-69 victory.

This moves the Knights to a 4-5 overall record and a 1-1 slate in UAVL play. The Bulldogs also carry a 1-1 slate in the league, with a total record of 1-5. The Ike Jayvees dumped the Little Bulldogs, 32-20.

The expert ballhandling of Denny Walton and Gary Wood gave the Eagles their fifth victory of the season to bring their record to 5-6. Walton collected three assists while Wood had five. Together they totaled over half of the Red and White score as Walton netted 12 field goals and seven buckets from the charity stripe for 31 points and Wood sunk eleven buckets and one free throw for a total of 23 points.

Tom Burlingame also scored in double figures for the Eagles as he collected six field goals for 12 points. Eagle cager George Nelson netted only six points as he concentrated on the boards and was high in Red and White rebounding.

The Indians managed only two in double figures as Dave Sager netted 17 points and Mike Vermillion scored 12. Vermillion's total came on six field goals while Sager netted five field goals and seven points from the foul line.

The Eagles took an early lead in the first quarter as they surged ahead of the Indians 20-8. The second quarter was the showdown for the Red and White as the Indians came within five points of the Eagle second quarter scoring, however, Youngsville entered the shower room with a 41-24 lead.

The third quarter ran pretty much the same as the Eagles continued their lead without much trouble. The Indians appeared to fire in the final stanza where the Red and White outscored them 31-15 for a final victory 91-51.

The Indians went 13 for 19 from the foul line for a 68 percent average while the Eagles netted 13 of 30 for a 63 percent average. The victory moved the Eagles to the .500 mark in the UAVL league with a 1-1 slate.

The jayvee game was cancelled because of a flu epidemic that hit the Indian squad. The Wolverines got back in the swing of things as Mark McGuire led in scoring by collecting ten field goals for 20 points. Three other Orange and Black cagers were in double figures: Wayne Swanson 18, Jeff Sealise 16, and Robbie Hart 16.

The Wolverine victory was decided on the boards as the Orange and Black pulled in 56 rebounds, Swanson was high in the rebounding department with 14 while Sealise and McGuire pulled off ten.

Scoring in double figures for the Beavers were Rick Anders with 17, Tom Gatesman 15, Dennis Hoover 14 and Jim Gatesman with ten.

The gifts from the foul line paid off for the Wolverines as they swished 76 percent of their free throws by sinking 18 of 26.

Along the line of assists, Hart handed off six times while Swanson aided in five.

The first quarter found the Wolverines in the lead 27-15. The Orange and Black managed to outscore the Beavers in every quarter. The closest stanza was the second where the Wolverines netted 18 points and the Beavers scored 16, however, the Orange and Black first period lead sent them to the locker room with a 45-31 edge.

The last two periods were all Sheffield as they moved ahead with ease. The end of the third period found the Wolverines leading 65-48 and the final score gave Sheffield the victory, 90-62.

The Wolverine Jayvees remained undefeated as they moved their record to 10-0 by downing the Little Bears, 56-32. Curt Lyle collected 15 points to lead Sheffield to victory. The varsity squad now boasts a record marred by only one loss, 9-1.

In other area action, Ridgway fell at the hands of Brockway, 74-46. John McCloskey led the Ridgway cagers with 12 points and Dave Petak scored high for the Rovers with 25 points.

This Friday sets the stage for six games in the County as all high school cagers take to the hardwood and the Edinboro O.C. Campus plays at ESC.

Under Tight Security

BOCA RATON, Fla. — The Oakland Raiders settled down Tuesday to top-secret practice sessions for Sunday's joust with the Green Bay Packers in the Super Bowl at Miami. These workouts would normally be described as being "behind closed doors," that being the traditional football jargon. There's one catch to it, though. The Raiders have no doors to close.

Unlike the Packers at the Yankee spring training base in Fort Lauderdale, the American Football League champions are unable to operate behind a fenced enclosure. This does not make the slightest difference. They still are safe from prying eyes on a field at a far corner of the lovely campus of the exclusive and expensive St. Andrew's Boys School.

There is only one access road and a uniformed guard is stationed at the gate to bar everyone but authorized personnel. Security is so tight that there isn't even any necessity to hide machine-guns in the library to erase any trespassers who might wangle their way past the first line of defense. No one could get that far.

Although the Raiders have left one flank totally exposed, they are completely unconcerned by it. Any secret agents from Green Bay who want to avail themselves of it are welcome to try. The exposed flank is a swamp that lies soggy just beyond the far sideline of the practice field.

The swamp is populated by alligators and water moccasins. None is known to be friendly or cooperative with secret agents — or anyone else. If the 'gators and snakes want to watch practice, no one will object. They will not pass along any helpful information to Vince Lombardi, the miracle worker. Even his supernatural powers have certain limitations.

Security is so easily enforceable that a wayward thought keeps intruding. This would be a peachy place for the Mafia to hold a high council meeting, an idea that undoubtedly would horrify the authorities at fashionable St. Andrew's.

Johnny Rauch, the young coach of the Raiders, has been studying Packer game films for the past couple of days and has respect for them, already high, has mounted.

"They are so quick and so good," he said, "it will take superior execution on our part to beat them. And I'm confident we can."

Rauch is the only coach in either league who ever played college ball against one of his hired hands. He is George Blanda, the 40-year-old field-goal-kicking phenomenon.

"In 1948, our senior year," said Johnny, "I quarterbacked Georgia against Kentucky where Blanda was the quarterback."

Because of wartime disruptions, Rauch was eligible for the varsity as a freshman and was the starting quarterback for all four years, each season winding up in a bowl.

"In my freshman year," said Johnny with a shy smile, "we had one play that called for a direct snap from center to a deep back and he'd throw me a forward pass. I caught seven for touchdowns that year."

Ahem! Might it be supposed that he'd insert this dilly into the Raider repertoire during the secret sessions behind those non-existent closed doors?

"I'd rather have Daryle Lamonica throw the ball than catch it," he said, letting his grin broaden.

There's no doubt about the fact that Lamonica is the key to Oakland's success this year and that the trade with Buffalo for him has been the compelling force behind Raider dominance of the league.

"We recognized his qualities and abilities before we made the deal," said Johnny. "As the backup man to Jack Kemp, he had won four important games for them one year. So he had more game experience than most backup quarterbacks."

"Besides, he had everything we wanted. He was tall enough, heavy enough and sturdy enough. He can scramble when he has to and has a fine arm for either short or long passes along with the skill to fire one in or out of the ball. He became our leader and established our esprit de corps."

"Geography helped speed his development. He lives in Fresno and I live outside Oakland, a drive of a little more than two hours. So we got together every day for a couple of weeks, going over movies of our offense. I'd stop the projector before each play, explaining what each call would be and why. It was a cram course in strategic theories and he learned fast."

"There are some who say we have too complicated an offense. I don't agree. I think of it as being simple but the more fluent one gets the easier it is. He now has it down pat."

If Lamonica clicks, the Packers are in trouble because he is as vibrant and vital a figure to the Raiders as Bart Starr is to Green Bay.

Super Bowl Byword: Don't Rile The Foe

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The strategy of both the Green Bay Packers and the Oakland Raiders is not to come up with any intemperate statements that might rile the other guys in the Super Bowl football game.

Coach Vince Lombardi of the Packers, National Football League champs, praised the Raiders' Tuesday as a team with "excellent speed, agile linemen, small but very quick linemen and very fast defensive backs."

Brewer Retiring

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Browns' linebacker John Brewer said Tuesday he has retired from professional football to give full time to his insurance business.

Coach Johnny Rauch of the Raiders, American Football League winners, said the Packers were "fantastic."

In the first Super Bowl game at Los Angeles, some Kansas City Chiefs made bold, even disparaging remarks about the Packers and are still eating the words. Green Bay clobbered the Chiefs 35-10.

Rauch had nothing but praise for the Packers.

"They don't have a weak spot," he said. "There's no doubt there's a certain mystique about them—the result of their winning record, their pride, their being the best in the game. I hope this doesn't bother us."

"If there is one difference between the defensive teams," he said, "it's that the Green Bay line backs are a little bigger."

COMING TO SHEFFIELD

Umpire Tom Gorman, involved in a light discussion with former New York Mets manager Casey Stengel, will be the guest speaker at the annual Sheffield Sports Booster Banquet on Saturday, January 20 at St. Paul's Center in Saybrook. Tickets for the fete are $3 and can be purchased by contacting Richard Moore (968-3422), Bob Olson (968-3884), Bud Nelson (968-5392 or 968-3560) or Red Haser (968-3810).

American Loop Will Pick KC Franchise

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The American League will make a decision on the owner of Kansas City's 1969 expansion franchise at a full league meeting here Thursday.

The league's screening committee will submit its choice to the owners, who are expected to approve the selection.

In addition, the 30 officials and club owners will discuss details of the expansion player draft. Joe Cronin, American League president, said at his Boston office Tuesday "I expect no final decision on the expansion draft until this summer."

The new Kansas City owner will pay $5,350,000 for the club, including a $100,000 membership fee and 30 players at $175,000 per man.

The four applicants for the franchise are Ewing Kauffman, president of Marlon Laboratories; and groups headed by Alex Barker, president of Civic Plaza National Bank; John Latschaw, vice president of E. F. Hutton & Co.; and Richard Stern, president of Stern Brothers, with Crosby Kemper Sr., retired chairman of City National Bank.

The new owners must set up an organization, conclude a lease on the $43 million Jackson County sports complex, starting hopefully in 1970 and negotiate a lease for Municipal Stadium until the complex — which provides separate football and baseball stadiums — is ready.

The expansion draft doubtless will bring some lively discussions here. The league's expansion committee has proposed a plan under which existing teams would freeze 15 players.

Irinedale Defeats Lacy in Gra-Y Loop

Irinedale tripped Lacy in Gra-Y Basketball League action yesterday, 17-9.

Dave Walters sparked the winners with seven points. Steve Collins and Sokowski each had four and Dan Dangel added two.

Steve Fisher's five points was high for Lacy. Steve Heller scored two and both Tom Huber and Jeff McClement had one apiece.

The draw for the secondary phase was arranged by drawing from a hat. In that draft Minnesota will be first followed by San Francisco.

Each of the 20 major league teams will be permitted one selection. Then each of the Class Triple A and Double A farms will get one pick, selecting in the same order of their major league clubs. The teams' Class A clubs will have unlimited selection rights, also picking in the order of their major league teams.

The Oakland Athletics will get the first pick in the regular draft followed by the New York Mets. The clubs select in inverse order of their finish in the 1967 season, alternating by leagues.

State Boxing Commission Rejects Frazier-Mathis Fight for Crown

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania state athletic commission Tuesday reaffirmed its support of the World Boxing Association's heavy weight championship tournament.

The three-man commission met to decide whether to break away from the WBA tournament and recognize the winner of the scheduled March fight in Madison Square Garden between Joe Frazier of Philadelphia and Buster Mathis of New York as heavyweight champion.

The New York and Massachusetts state boxing commissions have recognized the winner of the Frazier-Mathis 15 rounder the first week in March as the successor to Cassius Clay as heavyweight champion.

The Pennsylvania commission said in a statement that it is "a member of the WBA and joined it in good faith. We are dedicated to the principle for the good of boxing that there must be some orderly worldwide program for the ranking of boxers and for the conduct of tournaments to fill vacancies. With this overriding principle in mind, we must adhere to our obligations to support the WBA sanctioned tournament."

Frank Wildman, commission chairman, added, however, that it was the private opinion of the Pennsylvania commission that Frazier was the outstanding boxer in the heavyweight division and no heavyweight crown should rest on any head without Frazier having been afforded a chance to prove his claim to the title.

The commission said it would not recognize the winner of the Frazier-Mathis fight as champion. The 23-year-old Frazier, unbeaten in 19 pro fights, refused an invitation to the WBA tournament, choosing to campaign independently.

Mathis, undefeated in 23 professional fights, wasn't invited. Because of Frazier's refusal to participate in the tournament, the WBA dropped Frazier from a No. 2 ranking to No. 9 in their heavyweight rankings. Frazier, however, has been boosted to No. 7 in the latest WBA rankings. The Philadelphia is ranked No. 1 challenger by Ring Magazine.

Clay was stripped of his title by both the WBA and the New York Commission when he refused military service.

The WBA tournament is in its final stages with Jimmy Ellis already a finalist, waiting to meet the winner of the Feb. 3 semifinal in Oakland, Calif., between Thad Spencer of San Francisco and Jerry Quarry of Bellflower, Calif.

The New York boxing doubleheader also features middleweight champion Emile Griffith defending his title against Italy's Nino Benvenuti.

In addition to Wildman, the other commissioners at the meeting were Edward Murphy of Scranton, and John Vaughan of Pittsburgh. They met for about half an hour before making their decision.

Palmer third at 291 after a disastrous 9 on the 14th hole.

Casper won in 1958 with 277 and in 1963 with 285. He's never won the pro-am.

Palmer, after 12 Crosbys, never has won here. He's been in the top five only three times.

Sports Feud Decision Slated Soon

NEW YORK (AP) — Theodore Kheel, chairman of the special Senate Arbitration Board, promised Tuesday that a decision will be made shortly on the long-simmering AAU-NCAA sports control dispute.

"You can say that our finding will be handed down before the first track meet at Madison Square Garden Feb. 9," the New York attorney and widely known labor negotiator, said. "We expect the principals to be morally bound to abide by the decision."

Sparks in the bitter war over control of the nation's amateur sports flew again this week at the annual convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Marcus Plant of the University of Michigan, NCAA president, said he was distressed over the repeated violations of a moratorium by the AAU and added: "The arbitration proceedings are not making much progress."

The field of 168 pros and 168 amateurs will rotate among the three courses the first three days. Then the pros and pro-amateur teams which survive the 54-hole cut play Sunday for the $16,000 pro first prize and $2,700 top payoff in the pro-am.

Casper with 289 was runnerup last year to Nicklaus' 284, with PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Billy Casper, who just won the Southern California Open, goes into the Bing Crosby Pro-Amateur Golf tournament Thursday with hopes of becoming the first pro to win it three times.

Paired with young Bob Dickson, the U.S. and British amateur champion, Casper also could become only the fourth golfer ever to win both the pro and pro-amateur divisions of the tourney.

National Open champion Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Casper and most of the other big names of golf have arrived for practice rounds.

With the "luck of the Crosby," gale warnings were posted Tuesday for northern California. The storm was moving south toward the Monterey Peninsula, where the tournament is played over three courses.

It's traditional for a storm to hit the Crosby tourney. Last year, a gale on the third day forced a postponement and Nicklaus' victory came on Monday instead of the usual Sunday.

Bing's $104,500 event will be played over three courses, and all have been pronounced in their best condition by Jack Tutill, PGA tournament director.

Wildman read a statement by the three which also said that to overlook its obligation as a WBA member would be "to invite chaotic situations whereby dozens of state and national boxing jurisdictions would set up their own champions."

The commission also decided to reduce the suspension of welterweight Gypsy Joe Harris of Philadelphia from 60 to 30 days. Harris was suspended after his recent December victory over Miguel Barreto of Puerto Rico for actions detrimental to boxing.

The unbeaten Harris was decked 60 days starting Jan. 1, for reporting late to a physical examination at the commission office, and for failing to make the weight stipulated for the Barreto fight. Harris had to go to the gym and sweat off three pounds before the bout was allowed to go on.

If the Pennsylvania commission had walked out on its WBA obligation, it would have been liable for suspension and expulsion or both from the organization. Wildman is executive secretary of and Vaughan a director of the WBA, which holds its annual convention this summer in Pittsburgh.

FANCY MEATLOAF

Here's a meat loaf all done up like a fancy cheeseburger. Chili-Cheese Loaf features juicy ground beef and cheese layers, all topped with spicy chili with beans.

New Look for Meat Loaf

Oh, the marvelous meat loaf! It pampers the budget... satisfies beef-hungry dads and kids... and can be dressed up or down as you wish.

Chili-Cheese Loaf, for instance, isn't very different from any other meat loaf although you do mix colorful stuffed olives and canned chili with beans in with the ground beef. Canned tomato sauce mixed with the meat, too, makes the loaf extra-tender and juicy.

What makes Chili-Cheese Loaf special is its golden cheese center and spicy chili with beans topping. You bake the ground beef mixture in two layers. Then "sandwich" the layers with process cheese slices. The heat from the meat melts the cheese just enough to hold the two meat layers together.

Make the spicy chili sauce simply by heating together the rest of the chili with beans and tomato sauce.

Serve the loaf with spinach, scalloped potatoes, Waldorf salad and chocolate sundaes. Incidentally, did you know there are now four kinds of tomato sauces? Each one gives meat loaf a delightfully different taste. Choose from regular tomato sauce, tomato sauce with mushrooms (tender, succulent mushroom pieces), tomato sauce with cheese (aged Romano cheese and Italian herbs added to tomato sauce) and new tomato sauce with tomato bits (smooth tomato sauce with pieces of whole tomato all through it.)

CHILI-CHEESE LOAF

- 1 1/2 pounds lean ground beef
- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons sliced stuffed green olives
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 can (1 pound) chili with beans
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
- 1 package (6 ounces) process American cheese slices

Combine ground beef, egg, onion, olives, salt, 1/2 can chili with beans and 1/4 cup tomato sauce. On baking sheet shape mixture into 4 1/2 x 7 inch layers. Bake at 350° F. for about 40 minutes. Carefully place one meat loaf layer on heated plate; cover with cheese slices. Carefully top cheese with second meat loaf mixture. Heat remaining chili with beans and tomato sauce; spoon some over meat loaf and pass rest at table. Makes 6 servings.

GOOD EATING

Versatile convenience foods are handy to serve all-year round. It's not too late to resolve to try some in 1968! These Turkey Slices with Cheese Puffs are a good example and good eating, too!

Resolution For Good Eating

Resolutions concerning good eating know no season. Versatile convenience foods such as pre-packaged turkey gravy on turkey slices are handy to serve all year around. For a colorful, airy touch, this popular combination is topped with cheese puffs. The puffs are easy to make and there is no worry that they might collapse. Bread crumbs help them keep their puff.

Biscuits or spoonfuls of mashed potatoes are other favorites with turkey and gravy. The frozen turkey gravy on turkey slices come in a foil pan for easy heating in the oven. Home economists in the Martha Lo Pan Kitchens pass on this tip when using toppers. The puffs, potatoes or biscuits should be placed on the gravy after the mixture has heated to bubbling. The bottoms of the biscuits or puffs cook in the hot gravy while the tops are browning in the hot oven. If the gravy is not hot enough before the toppings are added, they may be doughy on the bottom.

Directions on the package highlight oven heating. However, the contents of the package heat just as easily when flipped into a skillet. Canned mushrooms, cooked macaroni, or frozen mixed vegetables may be stirred into the gravy for a skillet meal par excellence.

At other times the home-maker will want to spoon the hot turkey gravy and turkey slices over rice, toasted English muffins, corn bread or cooked spaghetti. The choice is limitless. Even buttered toast becomes a glamorous base when a slice of jelly cranberry sauce is put in place before the hot turkey and gravy is spooned over all.

TURKEY SLICES WITH CHEESE PUFFS
Yield: 4 to 6 servings
1 pound 12 ounce package Turkey Gravy on Turkey Slices
3 eggs, separated
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
1/4 cup bread crumbs

Rally Weakens, Ends with Losses

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rally Tuesday seemed headed vigorously into its third straight session when it began to weaken and ended with a loss in many market indicators. The early impetus was strong enough to leave a few more gains than losses on the New York Stock Exchange but the cash value of listed stocks had obviously diminished judging by the decline in broadly based indices.

Trading continued very heavy. Volume was 13.72 million shares, the sixth largest in history, ranking just below the Monday total of 14.27 million, the fifth largest.

As much as 7.40. Analysts saw no specific news item to account for the wave of profit taking which washed out the advance.

Of 1,503 issues traded, 692 advanced and 630 declined. New highs for the year totaled 97 and news lows 12.

Thanks to scattered strength among some blue chip components, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks kept a small gain of .2 at 327.3 with industrials up .1, rails up .1 and utilities up .3.

The New York Stock exchange index fell 6 cents to $53.90.

American Telephone, which has a gain of more than 5 points since the start of last week, ran afoul of profit taking and slipped 1/2 to 53 1/2. This cast a

SOCIAL SECURITY

Benefit Increases
Future Beneficiaries

By LEWIS EPSTEIN
(Second in a Series)

In my last article I discussed the increased social security payments that would be coming to persons now on the social security benefit rolls in early March as a result of the amendments signed into law by President Johnson on January 2nd.

The effect of the new legislation is also to increase the benefits of all future beneficiaries a minimum of 13 percent. A person whose earnings under social security had averaged $350 a month would, under the old law, get a benefit of $124.20 upon retirement at 65, or $186.30 for himself and his wife if she was also 65 upon his retirement.

Under the new law, based on the same average earnings of $350 a month, his retirement benefit will be $140.40 per month, or $210.60 for the couple — $24.30 more a month.

The maximum retirement benefit under the old law would have been $168 a month ($252 for a couple) payable to a worker 29 years old in 1968 and retiring in the year 2004, with average earnings of $550 a month, or $6,000 a year. Under the new law, this same worker can look forward to a monthly payment of $189.90 ($284.90 for himself and his wife).

Thus for these workers who have been earning and who will continue to earn wages of $6,000 a year or less, the new amendments will mean sizable increases in their future benefit payments — and without comparable increases in the social security tax contributions they were scheduled to pay under the old law.

A worker earning $6,000 a year will pay exactly the same amount of social security taxes in 1968 as he paid in 1967. In 1969 and 1970, he will actually pay $6.60 less for the year than he would have paid under the old law. In years after that he will pay only slightly more, with his maximum contribution no more than $1.38 more a month than he would have paid under the law as it stood before the enactment of the benefit increases. These contribution rates also include the portion he pays toward his medicare protection for his old age.

Higher social security contributions are scheduled, however, for the one out of four wage earners who earns over $6,000. He will be paying social security contributions on up to $1,200 more of his annual earnings.

Beginning with 1968, earnings up to $7,800 a year will be subject to social security contributions and will also count toward social security benefits.

For a worker earning the maximum of $7,800 or more a year, this will mean additional social security contributions of $4.40 more per month in 1968, rising to a maximum additional contribution of $7.28 per month in 1967 and later, including the amount he pays for his and his wife's hospital insurance under medicare.

These higher paid workers who will be paying substantially more in social security contributions are, however, the ones who will also get substantially higher benefits, ranging up to 30 percent higher than under present law.

For example, a young man now 27 or younger who pays social security contributions on $7,800 a year until his retirement at age 65, will collect 30 per cent more in monthly benefits than he would under present law — $218 a month for himself — $323 a month for himself and his wife. His family's benefit protection in case of his disability or death is also substantially improved.

Even the higher paid middle-aged worker who is much closer to retirement age will find his benefit prospects greatly improved. For example, a worker who is 50 in 1968 and will pay social security contributions on earnings of $7,800 a year for only 15 years will collect a retirement benefit of $188.80. This compares with the $155 per month he would have collected under the old law, an increase of 21.8 percent. He and his wife together will be eligible for $283.20 a month, instead of $232.50.

A worker earning $6,000 a year will pay exactly the same amount of social security taxes in 1968 as he paid in 1967. In 1969 and 1970, he will actually pay $6.60 less for the year than he would have paid under the old law. In years after that he will pay only slightly more, with his maximum contribution no more than $1.38 more a month than he would have paid under the law as it stood before the enactment of the benefit increases. Countians
On Relief
Increase

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau)

HARRISBURG — In line with the statewide trend of the past six months, the number of persons on Warren County relief rolls in October showed an increase from six months ago.

The county's latest relief figures show 570 persons on public assistance rolls in October, or 52 more than during May, according to the State Department of Public Welfare.

Comparing October with six months earlier reveals the following: old age assistance recipients numbered 199 in October (202 in May); state blind pensions, 27 (27); federal-state blind pensions, 26 (27); aid to dependent children assistance, 261 (215); general assistance, 21 (12), and aid-to-disabled assistance, 36 (35).

Costwise, the relief program for Warren County has increased from $30,353 during May to $33,145 in October with costs as follows:

Old age assistance, $13,153 in October ($13,395 in May); state blind pensions, $2416 ($2280); federal-state blind pensions, $3381 ($3020); aid-to-dependent children assistance, $9034 ($6976); general assistance, $1190 ($719), and aid to disabled assistance, $3971 ($3963).

Stock Car Races

George A. Probst of the Warren County Industrial Management Association, last Saturday made presentations to winners of the 1967 Model Stock Car Races. The championship trophy went to Craig McKillip and first runner-up trophy to Steve Giunta. There were 33 boys entered in the competition. Commendation was given Bob Feldman of the YMCA for his fine job in supervising the races.

Winter's Ire Continues
To Flail Northeast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter's wrath continued in the Northeast Tuesday after intense cold plunged the mercury far below zero. Snow, sleet and rain rambled through Appalachia and into the Deep South.

More than 50 deaths have been attributed to the gripping cold wave which stung the Midwest Saturday and moved through New York and New England early Tuesday.

Governor's Pilot Will Not Receive Retroactive Pay

HARRISBURG (AP) — A proposal to pay the governor's pilot additional money retroactive to last July was rejected Tuesday by Aud. Gen. Grace M. Sloan.

Mrs. Sloan contended a regularly salaried state employee can't get paid for extra services "unless expressly authorized by the Executive Board prior to the rendering of such services."

She said this stipulation is contained in the Administrative Code.

The board, which sets all state salaries not established through legislation, authorized dual compensation for John Macfarlane who pilots Gov. Shafer.

Macfarlane's primary job is executive director of the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission which pays $16,170 a year.

The Executive Board voted Dec. 28 to pay Macfarlane an additional $140 biweekly, retroactive to July, 1967.

Mrs. Sloan noted that Macfarlane had been pilot to several governors.

"He was paid no dual compensation during their terms of office because no one considered his piloting activity as constituting 'extra services,'" she stated in a letter to Arthur F. Sampson, state budget secretary.

Fires Strike Five Cities
In Western Pennsylvania

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Fires struck five cities in Western Pennsylvania Tuesday, killing three persons and driving 21 others from their homes into the freezing weather.

The worst was in Johnstown where flames leap-frogged through five buildings. A partially blind elderly woman and her daughter were killed. Thirteen others were forced into the near zero cold.

Here is a rundown:

PITTSBURGH: One man was killed and two others sent to the hospital by a fire in a three-story downtown rooming house. John Hampton, about 45, was found dead. Thomas Haney, 63, collapsed on the broken glass of a window sill as he tried to escape.

PORTAGE: Flames destroyed a building housing May's Restaurant, offices and an apartment in this Cambria County town. Firemen from 10 voluntary companies kept the blaze from spreading to nearby buildings, including an elementary school.

NEW GALILEE: The Rev. James Dennison, his wife and four children were driven from their home when a fire spread from the chimney and destroyed their frame home.

SPANGLER: Fire fed by oil from the heating system

Complains Gov.
Has Not Signed
PSU Money Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — A Centre County Republican complained Tuesday that Gov. Shafer, vacationing in the Virgin Islands, has not yet signed the $48.5 million appropriation bill for Pennsylvania State University into law.

"I urgently request that you do everything possible to have the bill transmitted to the governor... for his immediate signature," Rep. Eugene Fullmer in a telegram to Budget Secretary Arthur F. Sampson. Fullmer's district includes the University.

The Penn State measure, along with appropriations of $28 million for Temple University and $27.6 million for the University of Pittsburgh, cleared the General Assembly on the final day of the 1967 session last Dec. 21.

Shafer left for a 10-day-to-two-week vacation in St. Croix last Thursday. He has until Jan. 21 to sign the bills or else they will take effect without his signature.

Sampson said he may go down to the Virgin Islands to confer with Shafer.

"If I go down I may take the university bills with me," Sampson said. "We are deathly afraid of sending original documents through the mail and having them get lost."

WARREN, PA., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1968

Telewriters to Be Installed In State Civil Defense Centers

The Northwestern County Commissioners Association met in Warren Tuesday to hear of programs important in their respective counties and to discuss mutual problems and possible solutions.

Ross Webb, western area director, State Civil Defense Council, brought commissioners up to date on changes the state is making as well as certain mandates that must be considered.

Webb said that in the past, in some areas, the state CD council had provided free, a national warning system. This system, he stated, has been outdated for some time and will be disposed of in March.

Telewriters will be installed in some CD offices or centers, which would carry hard copy directly from the Harrisburg office as well as play a role in daily administration. Those concerned with county government could maintain direct contact with officials in Harrisburg although the Telewriter could not be used to make inquiries as to licenses or motor vehicle registrations.

The new system, Webb said, will be installed free to those CD centers, such as Warren's, where there is auxiliary power and 24-hour service. Others would pay a fee for a hookup with centers having the 24-hour service although installation of a Telewriter would still be free.

Webb reminded the commissioners that this is the year when they must give consideration to the continuity of government. Under the law the commissioners must select an alternate seat of government in case of war. The location, he said, can be in the same county, another county or even another state.

Commissioners must also name an alternate official to serve in wartime should the elected officer be unable to answer roll call. The alternate would serve until the elected official did answer roll call. The continuity of government proposal affects those in government on all levels.

The commissioner, for example, can select his own alternate, place the name in a sealed envelope which in turn, with others, would remain in a sealed master envelope in Harrisburg where it would remain until such time as challenged by a new member of the board or in case of war.

Webb also mentioned a federal grant to colleges for Civil Defense seminars and stated these conferences for this area would be held during February, March and April at various locations with a staff of professors from Penn State in charge. Officials on all levels will be urged to attend.

Warren County's CD Center was described as not only the first but best in the state and the visiting commissioners toured the facility.

John Moss, regional supervisor for community development, State Department of Community Affairs, discussed legislation to be proposed that would pre-fund 701 regions where federal applications for funds have been made and thus cut down the year-to-year-and-a-half delay in receiving the monies. Such funding, he said, could even assist in enforcement of codes and ordinances.

Medicare has posed some problems in several counties, according to spokesmen. In Elk County, it was reported, where annual contributions are made toward the care of indigent patients, the county has now been asked to pay full costs of such hospital care. In another county, the cost over and above Medicare payments, has been billed to the county.

The question was raised as to whether any county homes had applied for Medicare. Venango said they had applied, had not been accepted and "were glad of it." That county has adopted a wait and see attitude.

At the Franklin Hospital, commissioners said, Medicare payments from the government were recently running several months behind and at one time were $80,000 in arrears. The situation appears to be getting better, the spokesman noted, but thought monthly payments on time would be more acceptable.

As for Medicare for county homes, it was noted that the county could well be saddled without provisions as to when and how the money would be paid.

A meeting in Harrisburg today may clarify other problems faced by counties in the fields of mental health and Child Welfare.

Several Commissioners voiced opinions against the many federal and state mandated programs being forced on the counties. Mentioned in particular was the mental health and mental retardation program and the difficulties in securing a qualified administrator in the various catch areas designated. The mandated Home Maker's Service, pushed by the State Child Welfare Department, is also posing headaches for counties which stated that unless a specified amount was included in their budgets for this program, the state will not give its approval.

Representatives were present at yesterday's session from Cameron, Clarion, Clearfield, Elk, Forest, Jefferson, McKean and Warren counties. Chief clerks and solicitors also attended.

Dr. Israel's Brother Is Honored

Harry F. Harlow, professor of psychology, University of Wisconsin, was one of 12 men selected Dec. 30 as the 1967 recipients of the National Medal of Science, the federal government's highest award for achievement in science, mathematics and engineering.

Dr. Harlow is the brother of Dr. Robert Israel, Warren State Hospital, and has been a Warren visitor on many occasions. Last summer he presented a three-day series of lectures to the WSH staff on the subject of his numerous research projects concerned with social behavior of monkeys.

In announcing the national awards, the White House, in an article in the Dec. 31 edition of The New York Times, noted that Dr. Harlow has shed much light on human behavior and mental development through his study of the monkeys' social behavior. The medals have been given annually by the President to persons who, "in his judgment are deserving of special recognition by reason of their outstanding contributions to knowledge in the physical biological mathematical or engineering sciences."

Donnelly Named Chairman For Rouse Estate

Thomas J. Donnelly was elected chairman of the Commissioners of the Rouse Estate in a brief session yesterday morning. The vote was unanimous.

The Rouse commissioners also approved a five per cent, across the board salary increase for county home employees and a $100 a month increase for the doctors who serve at the Rouse.

Doctors are on call at all times and pay at least two calls weekly. The salary increase from $350 to $450 is reimbursed by the State Department of Public Assistance from between 60 to 70 per cent and applicable to patients on public assistance.

Named to Region III

HARRISBURG (AP) — Wayne C. Bellaman of Meadville was appointed Tuesday as a regional sanitary engineer in the State Health Department's Region III at an annual salary of $12,075. Bellaman will work out of the Meadville office.

Appeal on Nonpublic School State Aid Proposal Dropped

HARRISBURG (AP) — Philadelphia delegate German Quiles withdrew Tuesday an appeal to a ruling that his proposal to permit state aid for nonpublic schools went beyond the Constitutional Convention's limited scope.

The highly controversial issue was to have been debated and put to a floor vote on Wednesday. A majority vote would have upset the ruling and permitted the convention to consider the proposal.

Quiles said he had decided to drop the appeal after he discussed the matter with several private attorneys.

"I have been advised by counsel that the legal opinion of the convention's staff was sound," Quiles said.

The proposal had been rejected last Friday by Lt. Gov. Raymond J. Broderick, convention president, who ruled that it did not fall within the convention's jurisdiction to consider only four specific areas of the Constitution.

In response to newsmen's questions, Quiles said he had not discussed the proposal with any church leaders before it was submitted to the convention.

"I talked to a lot of delegates and they told me they liked my proposal," Quiles said, "but a lot of them said they were afraid to vote for it."

Quiles said he believed the proposal would have been rejected if it had been put to a floor vote.

"I did it (introduced the proposal) to help the Puerto Ricans in the Philadelphia community," Quiles said.

With Quiles' appeal out of the way, delegates still were scheduled to debate and vote Wednesday on appeals by delegate Peter T. Dumbauld of Somerset County to the rejection of proposals affecting state aid for higher education.

In another development, Broderick extended until Thursday the deadline for delegates to submit proposals from the floor. The original deadline had been last Friday, but that was extended because of the large number of proposals that could not be prepared in time.

Eleven more proposals were introduced Tuesday, bringing to 184 the total now under consideration by the convention. To date, 16 have been rejected as not germane.

Among Tuesday's proposals were ones that would:

— Retain the minor judiciary in less populated areas of the state under guidelines established by the State Supreme Court.

— Increase the terms of state senators from four to six years and the terms of House members from two to four years.

— Increase the number of county commissioners from three to five and require that the candidate receiving the most votes be named chairman of the commission.

— Eliminate the state's $1 million debt limit and prohibit the authority system of financing.

— Abolish authority financing, with the exception of the state Public School Building Authority and other self-sustaining authorities now operating.

After the general session, the Legislative Apportionment Committee's Subcommittee on the Composition of the Legislature voted to recommend retention of the General Assembly's current makeup: 50 senators and 203 House members.

The subcommittee's recommendation now will be considered by the full committee.

A number of proposals, several calling for sharp reductions in the size of the House, were before the subcommittee.

Flu Hits Sheffield, Youngsville

The flu has hit Sheffield and Youngsville, if school attendance figures are any indication.

About 16 per cent of the students at Sheffield high school were absent Tuesday, a check with the school revealed. Youngsville high school, which normally has a rate of about four per cent absent, reported 12 per cent absent both Monday and Tuesday.

Elementary schools in both areas had lower absenteeism rates; Youngsville reported a near-normal rate, and Sheffield a rate of 6.7 per cent.

More students than average were absent from Warren Area High School Tuesday. The absenteeism rate there was about seven per cent.

Other schools in the Warren area reported near-average attendance, with the exception of some elementary schools where chickenpox, mumps or measles were reported.

A check with Sylvania, where a number of persons from the Warren area are employed, indicated that absenteeism was up this week and last week, and above average for this time of year.

Luncheon Speaker

Dr. Thomas Barratt, supervisor of Warren County School district, will speak at the 11:45 a. m. luncheon tomorrow of the Warren County Ministerial Association. His topic will be "Church and School—Common Concerns." A business session at 11 a. m. will precede the luncheon, according to Pastor Wallace Olson, president of the association. The affair will be held at First Lutheran Church.

Sight Conservation Office Moves

The Warren Lions Club Sight Conservation and Blind Committee has moved its office to Room 411 in the Warren National Bank building.

The office will be open from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m. daily except Saturdays to provide services for blind children and adults having sight problems; provide white canes for the blind; act as agent for the Buffalo Eye-Bank and Research Society for the Eye-Donor program; originate Glaucoma screening and pre-school testing programs.

Mrs. Richard Freeburg is the newly appointed administrative secretary.

The organization stresses the fact that the Sight Conservation and Blind Committee is not a United Fund Agency. It depends solely on the public's purchase of Daisies and Sight Seals in September and support of several Lions Club projects.

Cast Busily Rehearsing For Second Production

The cast for Warren Player's second public production of the current season, "The Square Root of Wonderful," is currently rehearsing Carson McCullers' three-act play.

Working with co-directors, Al and LaMar Blyler are the following: Mary Ann Gray, Mollie Lovejoy; William Blumquist, Phillip Lovejoy; Murray McComas, John Tucker; John Barrett, Paris Lovejoy (son of Mollie and Phillip); Lois Byham, Mother Lovejoy; Christina Sandblade, Phillip Lovejoy's sister; Kaye Gorenflo, Hattie Brown.

The play, which starred Anne Baxter in its New York run at the National Theater, is concerned with a charming, southern-born woman, twice divorced from the same man.

Phillip Lovejoy is a tormented, devil-driven intellectual and has made his wife's existence one of misery and degradation. She is trying to break away to marry a young architect who offers her love and understanding, but her self and his domineering mother.

"The Square Root of Wonderful" will be presented January 26 and 27 at Beaty Junior High School auditorium.

Christopher Latham Sholes, who invented the first typewriter that was practical, coined the word "type-written."

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I say a few words to the millions of American housewives who can't seem to find or keep domestic help? As a woman who has worked as a housekeeper for 22 years, I would like to ask these chronic cryers to take a good look at themselves and perhaps they will discover why they are having problems.

Too many women expect household help to work from dawn till dusk with no regard for hours, overtime, holidays or anything else. They also forget that wages ought to go up to keep pace with the cost of living. How many women are paying household help the same wages they were getting six and eight years ago? And, by the way, second-hand clothes, leftover food, and discarded furniture do not take the place of money.

How many women treat a housekeeper like a human being? If she lives on the place, is her room cheerful and attractive? Is she made to feel guilty if she uses the phone or sits down to have a good lunch or a cup of coffee at 3 p.m.? Does she get a vacation with pay, like women who work in business or industry?

If you cannot answer "yes" to these questions, please be honest and admit that perhaps you are largely responsible for the scarcity of domestic help. . . . BIRD'S EYE VIEW

DEAR BIRD: Thank you for an intelligent answer to a question which I have been handling in the mail daily for the last 12 years. I concur completely.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please rush word to your teen-age readers that you do NOT endorse "Cool Cat's" suggestion that young lovers go to airports to "discuss life." The zoo, O.K. Theatre lobbies and public libraries, O.K. Art museums, galleries and parks, fine. But not airports, Ann, please. We in Madison, Wis. don't know where to put our paying customers. Our airline passenger traffic has increased 34 per cent over last year. Except for that, I love your column. . . . R.B.S., AIRPORT SUPERINTENDENT

DEAR R.B.S.: Consider 'em told. And, incidentally, I love your airport.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband was married to another woman several years ago. They had no children. The marriage was a mistake and it lasted less than 18 months. We would both like to forget it.

We have two children, four and five years of age. Eventually we will tell them that their daddy was married to another woman, but we feel we should wait until they are old enough to understand.

My husband's sister has a family album fairly bursting with pictures of the ex-wife in the midst of family gatherings. She drags out the album whenever we come over and reminisces about how "George and Fran" did this and that.

I feel the pictures should have been removed from the album and that my sister-in-law should not be bringing up the past in the presence of our children. It is not her place to tell them, is it? . . . SECOND WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Of course not! So why are you stalling around and letting her do it? Is it because you've been putting off an unpleasant job with the excuse that the children are too young to understand?

A child of four knows what a wife is, so get busy and tell the children that Daddy had another wife before he married Mommy. This will defang your sister-in-law and you will be able to relax in her presence.

How far should a teen-age couple go? Can necking be safe? When does it become too hot to handle? Send for Ann Landers booklet, "Necking and Petting—What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

THE GIRLS

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES J. MORRISON

Golden Anniversary Observed

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Morrison of Russell were honored at a reception on Sunday, January 7, at the home of their son, Jack, and family of Meadow Lane. The occasion was the couple's golden wedding anniversary hosted by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dougherty and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Morrison.

Miss Frances Loftus of Olean, N.Y., and Charles J. Morrison of Warren were married in Olean, N.Y., at the St. Marys of the Angels Church on January 2, 1918. Mr. Morrison, who retired from the Struthers-Wellis Corp. in 1960 and has been a member of the Knights of Columbus for 55 years, Mrs. Morrison is a charter member of the Catholic Daughters of America.

An Anniversary Mass at 8:30 a. m. in St. Joseph's Church, Warren, was followed by a breakfast at the Penn Laurel. For a reception later, Mrs. Morrison received guests wearing an aqua blue dress to which was pinned a corsage of yellow roses with gold ribbons. Mr. Morrison had a yellow rose and gold ribbon boutonniere.

Appointments at the reception were carried out in white and gold with yellow chrysanthemums and gold candelabra with gold tapers. The three-tier anniversary cake was topped with the golden numerals "50" resting on gold tapers. Aides were Miss Virginia Morrison and Miss Kathy Smith. Miss Marlene Morrison had charge of the guest book.

The one hundred guests attending came from Warren, Russell and Olean, N.Y.

Pulitzer Prize Winning Author Subject of Address

A Pulitzer Prize winner, author Edwin Way Teale, primarily a bird fancier, was the subject of Attorney William Hill Jr.'s interesting address before the Monday afternoon meeting of the Woman's Club. A conservationist, Mr. Hill chose for his subject "Across America With Edwin Way Teale" concerning a set of books on "The Four Seasons" which won the author the coveted recognition.

The four books, written from 1951 to 1965, are "Spring" 1951; "Summer" 1956; Autumn, 1960; and Winter, 1965.

Edwin Way Teale began his nature study work through interest first aroused as a child when he spent three months each summer in Indiana on "Lone Oak Farm." Between his schooling and his authorship of books, he taught Public Speaking, and was a writer for Popular Science Magazine.

At 42 years of age he began his writing career. To write "The Four Seasons," Mr. Teale and his wife traveled 100,000 miles through the United States. The first book "Spring" began with their leaving Florida, south of Lake Okechobee and traveling north to the Canadian border, during which they checked the progress of spring as it reached further north each week.

The three other books of the set were written much the same way and involved thousands of miles of travel over the United States.

Mr. Hill read the opening chapter of "Spring," and closed by reading another passage from "Winter," very appropriate for this time of year.

Are Fashions to Supplant The Marriage Counselor?

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
A.P. Fashion Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Where marriage counselors fail, fashion may very well succeed in keeping couples together—at least until they can afford separate wardrobes.

At any rate that appeared to be a possibility as Bill Blass led a compromise fashion show at the opening day of the American Designer Series spring previews conducted by Eleanor Lambert.

Up to now the debate has been whether men or women should be the peacock while the other assumes the drabness of a wet sparrow in order not to take the play away.

Both should be the peacocks, said Blass. They should do their shopping together so that they match each other, presumably on the theory that couples who pay together surely will stay together.

Thus his twosome parade included coordination of a lady's stocking color and dress dickey, for example, to the color of her escort's suit. His shirt and tie, on the other hand, accentuated the line in her window plaid jacket.

Or for the resort route the man of the house might choose a peach-hued sports jacket over his blue trousers, mindful of his wife's flowered halter-necked dress of the same shades as well as her peachy hosiery.

Since many have not met their match fashion or otherwise, Blass let the rest of his boys and girls go it alone on the runway.

For the ladies were eye-catching clothes in bright dots, stripes, or splashing art nouveau and man-catching clothes with ruffles and feathers and bare backs and huge flirty hats.

Men, who have won equal opportunity in the modeling field this season, were back on the runway in purple or khaki World War I shirts with hip slung belts and contrasting trousers.

Grange Notes

Watson Grange held a Christmas party in place of its regular meeting at the Guy Wilcox home. The unit will hold its regular meeting tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock. All members are urged to attend.

The meeting is to take place at the Robert Hollabaugh residence, 1580 Pleasant road.

Correction

The Newcomers informal luncheon will be held at the Inn of the Three Flags on January 24. Members and their guests are invited and all reservations must be made through Mrs. Charles Schaaf.

Evangelism Year For Methodists

Western Pennsylvania Methodists will launch a special "Year of Evangelism" on Sunday, January 14, with a district-wide meeting of clergy and laity in each of the 10 districts of the Methodist Western Pennsylvania Conference.

Ministers, laymen and youth of the 75 churches in the Methodist Kane District will convene at 3:30 p.m. in First Methodist Church, Kane. At 3:45 p.m., Bishop Frederick B. Newell, resident bishop of the Pittsburgh Area, will address the meeting by tape recording which will be heard simultaneously at the other nine district meetings throughout the western part of the state.

The guest speaker at the Kane District meeting who will share the task with Bishop Newell of launching the Year of Evangelism will be the Rev. Max M. Houser, minister of the First Evangelical United Brethren Church, Johnstown, Pa.

The Rev. Mr. Houser has also served as executive secretary of the Division of Evangelism of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches. For 12 years he was chaplain of the Veterans Administration Hospital in Altoona, Pa. He is a graduate of the University of Dayton, Ohio; and of the United Theological Seminary of Dayton.

Purpose of the special year, adopted by the Conference at its regular June session for the 228,000 members of its 772 churches in Western Pennsylvania, is to "renew and revitalize the life of the church."

Additional stated objectives are "to cause the members of our churches to face the social implications and involvements of their evangelistic mission to the world," and to "encourage the churches to develop and experiment with new ways of confronting with the claim of the Gospel those clearly outside the church and even hostile to it."

WW 1 Auxiliary Elects Officers

The World War I Auxiliary No. 1020 met at Stoneham Community Building on Monday night when the election and installation of the following officers took place:

President, Mabel Blair; senior vice president, Myrtle Huber; junior vice president, Belle Conquer; chaplain, Ann Nelson; treasurer, Fannie Rohrer; Conductress, Minnie V. Cini; guard, Olga Petersen; secretary, Gertrude Shaw new trustee, Ruth Lindquist, who also was elected the new membership chairman; hospital chairman, Garnet Stewart.

Refreshments were served by Myrtle Huber and Ann Nelson. Table decorations were by Mrs. Gertrude Shaw who effectively used ivy with arrangements of fruit, and tapers entwined with flowered wreaths.

The next meeting will be on Monday, February 12, Lincoln's birthday.

Art Department Meeting Jan. 15th

"Trends in Spanish Art" is the subject chosen by Mrs. Hugh R. Robertson for her illustrated talk at the Monday afternoon, January 15, meeting of the Art Department of the Woman's Club.

An ardent student of art, Mrs. Robertson last year took a three-weeks' Knox-Albright Art Tour to Spain and Portugal and had the opportunity of seeing first-hand many of the great masterpieces in art and many of the places made famous by the great artists.

Mrs. Robertson is a member of the Warren Art League and a valuable contributor in various capacities to that organization. She was Art League program chairman in 1966 and chairman of the Christmas show in 1967. Her project won the title of "Best of the Show" in 1968.

Mrs. David Potter will be hostess of the social hour following the program.

Practical Nurses Have Meeting

The January meeting of the Warren County Division of Licensed Practical Nurses was held Monday, January 8, at 7:30 p. m. in the Trinity Memorial Parish House. The meeting, conducted by the president, Mrs. Mary Lee Dyke, was opened by a prayer offered by Mrs. Annie Erickson.

A letter pertaining to mass emergency care was read. Interested persons were to call the Civil Defense office 723-7550 for registration. A library film entitled "The Lasers" was shown by William McClellan III.

A social hour followed the meeting. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Evelyn Greenawalt and Mrs. Mary Lee Dyke.

A grotto is a natural cavern in the earth or rocks.

South West North East
1 NT Pass 2 ♣ Pass

Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠
The above hand produced a substantial swing when it was dealt in a recent team-of-four contest.

The auction was identical at both tables and South became the declarer at a final contract of four hearts.

West opened the king of clubs at one table, continued with the ace and then a third round putting South in with the queen. Declarer led a small heart, West followed with the five and the jack was put up from dummy. The seven of hearts was returned and, when East showed out, South played the king to dislodge West's ace.

West returned a fourth round of clubs which declarer ruffed in his hand and another heart lead enabled the latter to successfully finesse North's nine and then pick up the ten with the queen. High diamonds and spades took the remaining tricks.

At the other table the play began in an identical fashion. West observed, however, that, if he merely permitted nature to take its course, he would end up with two club tricks and one heart on the deal—and South would score a profit.

Therefore, when the deuce of hearts was led at trick four, he followed suit with the eight, concealing the five. When dummy's jack won the trick, South had something to think about. If the hearts were divided three-two it did not matter what declarer did next. If they were four-one, however, then he must determine which way to play the suit.

If West has four hearts headed by the ace-ten, a small heart must be led from the dummy next. West's play of the eight led declarer to believe that East was more apt to have four trumps, and was holding off the ace in order to steer his opponent off the track.

In order to protect himself against a trump concentration on his right, South continued with the queen of hearts from dummy. If East played the ace and West showed out, declarer could lead thru the ten-five subsequently and pick up the suit.

When East showed out, West's subterfuge was revealed; however, it was too late for the declarer, and he was obliged to concede two tricks and a grudging congratulation to a resourceful defender.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars. FOR WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1968

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Curb possible erratic tendencies. In your innately capable manner, direct your activities and interests into constructive channels. Emphasize your best skills.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Don't rely on "hunches" now. Instinct only aids when backed by knowledge, study, experience, data. Seek facts.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—For you, too, know-how will result from accurate information and facts—not fancies or wishful thinking. Avoid extremes.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Tabulate what really are essentials and handle them aggressively, but with due regard for others' joint or individual interests. Make no hasty decisions where important moves are concerned.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—If something is not going as it should, stop, investigate, ask questions, and retrace steps if necessary. Much can always be done to eliminate—and correct—errors.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Review the inner forces that drive you. Are you sure you are on the right course and that you are looking at all sides of the picture? Day's aspects ask for better-than-average effort.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Is your routine due for a tuning up? Then get busy, for others about you are—and are accomplishing! Emphasize the Libran's famous sense of balance.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)—Present aspects suggest keen observance of conditions and situations before embarking upon new ventures; in every-day matters, too. Be sure just where you stand. SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—To be avoided: Irrational moves, hasty conclusions, misjudgment through carelessness or prejudice. This won't be difficult when you are your clear-sighted self.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—You can cut down costs tremendously—in both time and money—by heeding well-founded advice, watching new trends, weighing all facts.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—A period for review, re-evaluation of your present status. Make certain that you are quite sure what you want.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—You may have to make some concessions now, but this would be better than losing out altogether. Some small benefits indicated.

YOU BORN TODAY are a Capricornian, which basically means a determined, enthusiastic individual bent upon making things work and making a success of himself. You are alert to seize opportunity, to advance. Sometimes, through a series of circumstances, goals may seem to be far away, yet your boundless energy and belief in your aims can break through barriers. Don't rush into action before serious deliberation, however. Rewards will come more regularly with poise, patient waiting, as you work. Develop your versatility to the fullest. Birthdate of: Ethan Allen, Amer. Rev. War officer.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

HEREDITARY BALDNESS

Hippocrates, the Father of Medicine, was bald. The Greek physician lived three centuries before the birth of Christ and we assume that he tried all the known remedies of his day to grow hair. The situation has not improved since then.

Many fine dermatologists in this country are as bald as a billiard ball. The familiar picture of a baldheaded barber rubbing tonic into the scalp of a man with thinning hair also attests to the fact that there is no good remedy.

We refer to the ordinary type of hereditary baldness. Loss of hair due to ringworm, dandruff, drugs, and alopecia areata is more patchy; recovery is the rule when treated properly. Heredity is the commonest cause of baldness. Fathers transmit the trait to half their sons but rarely to their daughters. Women also pass along this family characteristic, even though they retain their hair. In this respect, a young man can inherit baldness from his mother's side of the family as well as from dad's.

Ordinary baldness cannot be remedied, so save your money. You might, however, buy a wig or submit to a surgical procedure in which tufts of hair are grafted on the bald scalp. This ingenious operation involves removing tiny plugs of the bald scalp and replacing these areas with plugs taken from the fringe of the head. The transplants are inserted along the edge of the thinning area to make the operation less conspicuous.

The dermatologic surgeon must know all about the pattern of baldness that runs in the family. If hair is removed from an area destined to become bald, the transplanted tufts may fall out.

Bald men seem to have an excess of body hair. This observation may be responsible for the interesting but odd theory that when baldness occurs, the hair on the head pushes down thru the scalp and comes out on the chest.

TOMORROW: Allergy to Nickel.
Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

HYPERACUTE HEARING
Mrs. T. K. writes: My 2-year-old son always puts his hands over his ears when there is a sharp sound like a dog barking or backfire from a car. Also when I talk to him sharply. Could he be suffering from an ear infection?

REPLY
The majority of children who do this have perfect ears but occasionally their hearing is hyperacute because of obstruction of the eustachian tubes. The dog and the car sounds are difficult to control but, what about you?

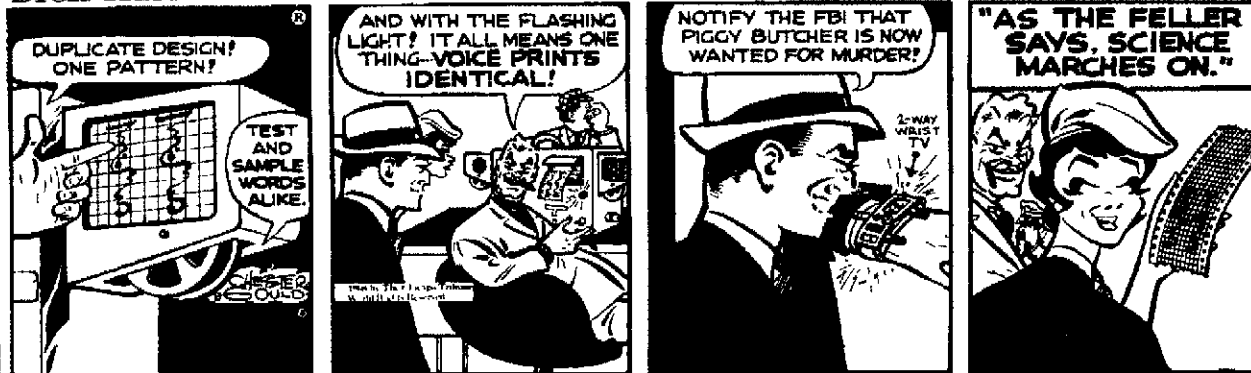

VITAMINS AND COLDS
V. V. writes: What vitamins can an adult take to prevent winter colds?

REPLY
Vitamins are not a specific cold preventive. On the other hand, multiple vitamin products help maintain optimum health, which is a good defense against respiratory infections.

YAWNING BRINGS TEARS
H. F. writes: Tears come to my eyes when I yawn. Is this an illness?

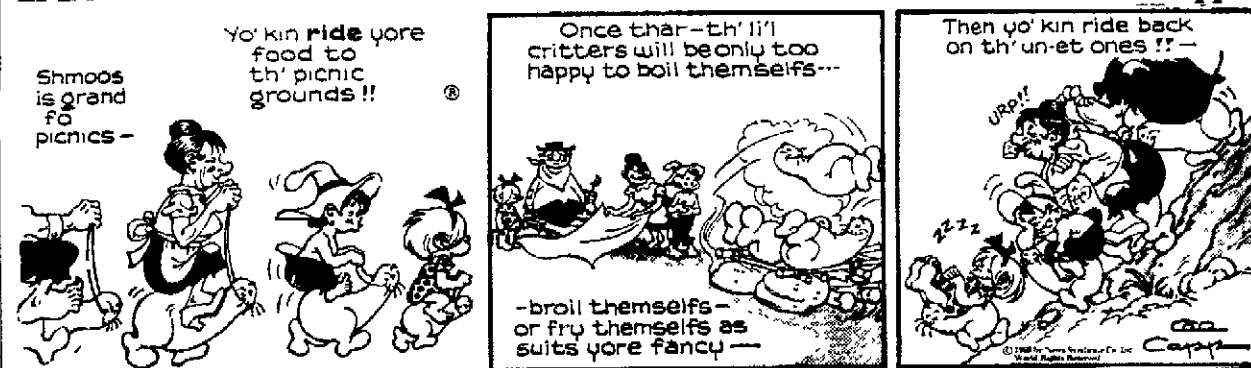

REPLY
No. The chances are that closing the eyes during the yawn squeezes the tear ducts.

Man from U.N.C.L.E., NBC, 57.1, above average

READER SPEAK
Dear TOP VIEW, Raymond Burr's role in "Ironside" is one of the most nerve tingling in years. As for "U.N.C.L.E.," take it off! — Louis Zuber, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Dear TOP VIEW, "Ironside" is best of the year. Memphis, unfortunately, always cancels it for politics, specials, etc., and I could see ch. Hope this will have long run like "Perry Mason." — M. Tom Sheehan, Memphis, Tenn.

Dear TOP VIEW, "Man from U.N.C.L.E." was splendid spoof for several years. It became extremely dull, however, when it began to take itself seriously. When Solo defected to THURSH, the circle was completed and the program unwatchable. I'm glad this atrocity is going off. This keeps the "desert wasteland" of TV from having its desert air polluted. — Westcott Clinton, Deland, Fla.

Dear TOP VIEW: This is the greatest year yet for "U.N.C.L.E." There must be some way to keep it on. What can we do? — Jeff Davis, Matland, Fla.

Dear TOP VIEW, "Wild Wild West" is a unique blend of sophistication, wit, and adventure. Robert Conrad and Ross Martin, the debonair agents, are well qualified and suited for their parts. An ingenious program, it appeals to all ages who, for one hour, wish to be entertained and removed from life's realities. — Ray L. Costanzo, Jr., Scranton, Pa.

Dear TOP VIEW, Festus's ("Gunsmoke") use of bad grammar is too obvious, really, to affect anyone. But youth are badly affected by the hypnotic "Monkees" obscene music and suggestive dancing. Give us clean shows with strong friendship, love, loyalty, respect for law and order. — Mrs. W. M. Arnold, Hot Springs, S.D.

ABC is removing "Hondo." This is your chance to vote on it in this nationwide newspaper TV survey:

we care

we never
'run out'
on a sale!

We never advertise a special sale item unless we have an ample supply. Once in a great while, the special is more popular than we imagined. So occasionally, we do run out of the item.

But we never "run out" on a sale. If the item is sold out, just ask the manager for a "RAIN CHECK".

An A&P Rain Check is a certificate that entitles you to buy the item at the same special price, the following week.

We think that's the fair thing to do. We think that shows "WE CARE".

Not every store can care that much. A&P can...and does. Shouldn't A&P be your store?

Ludlow Area News

By MRS. HILDUR WENSTRAN
The new schedule for Moriah Church services is Sunday morning services to start at 9:30 a. m.

The annual meeting of the Moriah Church Congregation will be held Tuesday, January 16, at 7:30 p. m. All members are urged to attend.

During the holidays contributions have been received for the church from Mrs. Hannah Swanner, Youngstown, Ohio; Misses Ethelyn Connelly, Bon-nalyn Connelly, Mrs. Ina Cross of Cleveland, Ohio and also by a friend.

In the past weeks Ludlow has suffered the loss of three former residents, Axel W. Anderson, Jamestown, N. Y.; Mrs. David Shaffer, Sugar Grove and Mrs. Katherine Zeeder of the Rouse Hospital, formerly of Gibbs Hill, Mrs. August Olson died at Kane Community Hospi-tal in Kane Thursday morning at 9 o'clock where she was ad-mitted on Sunday.

There are many down in bed with the "flu"; both children and adults affected.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Eckstrom and daughter of Warren, Ohio, were guests at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eckstrom and Mr. and Mrs. John Thornton during the holidays.

Mrs. Mabelle Nelson returned home Sunday after spending the holidays in Harrisburg at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Nelson and family.

Mrs. Beverly Rea of Sarasota, Florida, arrived home before Christmas. She was met at Pittsburgh Airport by her par-ents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carl.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Por-terfield and children of Key Biscayne, Florida, have re-turned home after a two weeks' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Swanson. The Swansons accompanied them to the Pittsburgh Airport from where they left by jet for their home.

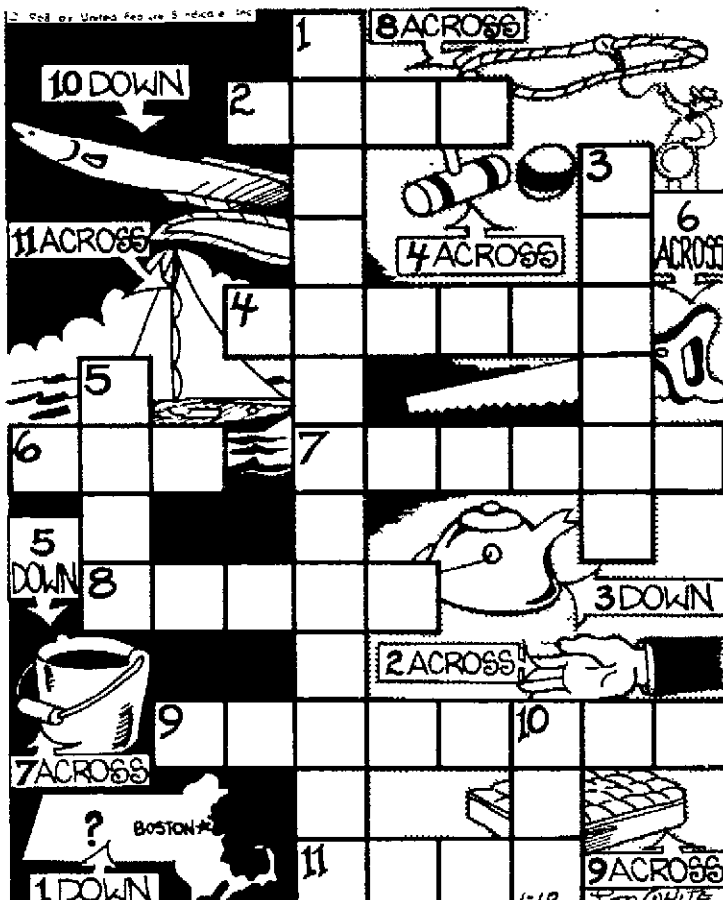

Those who attended committal services at Gibbs Hill Ceme-tery for Axel W. Anderson Tues-day afternoon were the Rev. and Mrs. Edwin F. Armitage, Mrs. Axel W. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Carlson and son James, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ellis and son Craig, Mr. Emory Barga-son, all from Jamestown, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ander-son Sr., Kenneth Anderson Jr., and David Anderson from Ro-chester, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. William Beckwith, Mr. Robert Beckwith and Vilgot Mortenson from Ludlow.

Mrs. Ward Anderson an-nounces that she is again chair-man for the March of Dimes for the 10th year. The March will be the last week of January 1968 and workers will be an-nounced later. Those wishing to make contributions by mail can do so by sending them to Mrs. Anderson.

Mrs. Erlend Olson, daughter Claire Ann and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Olson, visited Mr. Erlend Olson at the Buffalo General Hospital last Friday.

Mr. C. Herman Hanson was taken by ambulance to Warren General Hospital Saturday after he was taken very ill earlier in the day. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kunkle of Olean were called home due to the illness of her father.

LOUISVILLE is famous for its horses, but there is one "plug" there that will not attract touts at Churchill Downs. It is a "SWEL-PLUG" a device introduced by Tube Turns to pressure-test pip-ing. It slips into the end of a pip-ing assembly and expands with pressure to form a leak-proof seal.
